Control Inflation—

Ike Gives Plan For Prosperity

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower predicted today that the faltering economy would advance soon into "a period of sound growth."

The President's annual economic report—his last major message to Congress—called for 14 pieces of legislation. None could be called an anti-recession measure.

Instead, Eisenhower urged on Congress these policies for sustained prosperity: Keep his new $81 billion budget in balance. Keep inflation under control.

* * *

In tone and content, the message was in sharp conflict with the most nearly comparable Democratic document, the Jan. 5 report of President-elect John F. Kennedy's economic task force.

The Democratic group called for emergency federal action extending unemployment compensation for workers who have exhausted their jobless pay, along with other programs boosting federal outlays by $3 billion to $5 billion in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Eisenhower conceded Congress should consider providing some supplement to jobless pay "in periods of especially high rates of unemployment." But his economic advisers told newsmen that the present rate—6.6 per cent—wasn't high enough to justify federal help.

The President's legislative wantlist was topped by a demand that 1962 appropriations "be held within the limits of expected revenues."

It then repeated all the tax proposals of Monday's budget message and other measures—most of them identical with last year's requests.

Thy included: postal rate increases to make the postal system self-supporting; removal of the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on government bonds; additional legislation to assist chronically depressed areas; a "moderate" increase in the $1 minimum wage.

In all its 214-page length, the message never spoke of a recession, business dip, or downturn as marking the closing months of the Republican administration.

It referred to "moderate" late-1960 declines in production and employment as being mainly the result of industry's liquidation of an over-accumulation of inventories, and suggested that this may soon be stopped and inventory-buying resumed.

"An increase in general economic activity should not, accordingly, be long delayed," the President said.

Begin Hearings On Bill To Aid Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate banking subcommittee begins public hearings today on the $389.5 million depressed areas bill strongly backed by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The hearings, opening two days before Kennedy's inauguration, will give Congress a running start on a bill its sponsors hope will be the first major legislative item to reach the new president's desk.

Congressional witnesses are on the list for today. Thursday the subcommittee plans to call some of the governors who are here for the inaugural ceremonies.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., chief sponsor of the measure and chairman of the subcommittee, said that the hearings would not be prolonged because congressional committees have compiled much testimony on the subject in recent years.

The Dougals bill has 43 co-sponsors including four Republicans. Its eventual Senate passage seems assured.

The measure contains federal loan and grant funds designed to help areas of chronic unemployment attract new industries. The aid would go to distressed rural sections as well as to cities.

Want Uniform Laws On Shipment Of Hogs

CHICAGO (AP)—Representatives of Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin and Illinois are conferring in Chicago on the possibility of seeking uniform legislation throughout the Midwest on the interstate shipment of hogs.

At the opening of the two-day conference Tuesday, Iowa State Rep. Paul M. Walter said existing conflicting regulations impose a financial hardship on some hog feeders. He cited a case in which an Iowa feeder lost 160 pigs from cholera because of conflicting regulations in Iowa and Missouri.

Walter said Missouri requires that hogs shipped from that state be inoculated with serum, while Iowa requires hogs entering the state to be vaccinated with modified serum. He said the use of both medications prevented the hogs from gaining immunization and several animals receiving both kinds of shots developed cholera and died.

David Foreman of the Illinois Agriculture Department said agreement on uniform legislation on agricultural commodities would be sought in Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, Illinois, Minnesota, Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky and possibly South Dakota and Nebraska.

Russell Ives, a spokesman for the American Meat Institute, told the meeting that the AMI is opposed to federal meat inspection regulations requiring that the weight of smoked hams shall not exceed the weight of fresh, uncured meat.

Ives said the AMI board of directors has advised the U.S. Department of Agriculture that surveys show consumers prefer a ham that is more moist or juicy than those permitted under present regulations on government inspected meat.

Ives did not comment directly on a charge that some meat packers and hog raisers are turning out watered hams.

Bob Casper of Winterset, Iowa, vice president of the National Farmers Organization, made the charge in a speech Saturday night. He said he favored legislation to prevent processing hams with a high water content.

The meeting was called by the Illinois Commission to Study Interstate Shipment and Sale of Agricultural Commodities.

Ike Urges New Inauguration, Election Dates

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today election and inauguration dates ought to be changed so a new president would have 30 days to get organized before he starts doing business with Congress.

Specifically, he said, there should be that much time to prepare messages on the state of the Union and the budget before Congress convenes.

Eisenhower has just sent Congress his views in those fields, as required. Now the incoming administration of John F. Kennedy will set about revising the programs to meet its own ideas.

Eisenhower told his 193rd and final White House news conference he has some radical ideas about changing the schedule of transition from one administration to another.

He said he favors a constitutional amendment which would change the time of the national elections and of inauguration of a new president to a point where the new executive would take office 30 days before he meets with his first Congress.

Eisenhower gave no specific dates. But since Congress ordinarily convenes Jan. 3, under his schedule the new president would have to take office about Nov. 10 instead of the present Jan. 20 date fixed in the Constitution.

This would make it necessary to move the presidential election ahead of the date now fixed—the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

In an expansive and nostalgic mood, Eisenhower answered a series of questions about the transition period he is going through at this point.

Up to now, he said this change-over from a Republican to a Democratic administration has been going splendidly. He said there were no complaints on his part. He will have a meeting Thursday with Kennedy to close out the final details.

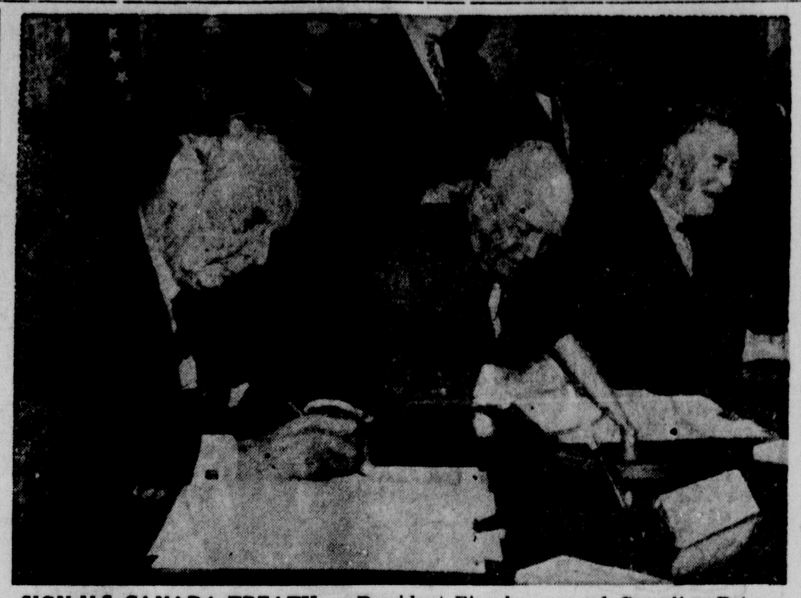

SGT. MATHER DIES

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—Sgt. Martin Maher, 84, who served as soldier and civilian more than 60 years at the U.S. Military Academy, died Tuesday after a long illness. Maher started his West Point career as a waiter. He joined the Army in 1898, serving at the academy as a swimming instructor and gymnasium custodian and later in other jobs. He was born in Ballyrine, Ireland, and came to the United States when he was 20.

RETIRED TIMES EDITOR DIES

NEW YORK (AP) — Laurence Vale Updegraff, 76, a retired assistant Sunday Editor of the New York Times, died Tuesday. He had been a member of the Times staff for nearly 50 years, retiring in 1958. He was born in Grinnell, Iowa.

Seven presidents of the United States died in office.

Divers Plunge To Tower

NEW YORK (AP)—Daredevil skindivers plunged deep into the murky North Atlantic Tuesday night to penetrate—for short distances—the sunken Texas Tower radar station.

They found much debris, but no sign of life.

Further exploration of the storm-wrecked tower was held up until "hard hat" deep sea divers could stand by at the openings to assist divers using self-contained breathing units.

The skindivers descended 160 feet to the stricken station, which is apparently resting on the ocean floor at a 45-degree angle.

The Navy Tuesday reluctantly abandoned all hope of finding any of the tower occupants alive. Dead or missing are the 14 Air Force men and 14 civilian workers who were aboard the station when it collapsed Sunday night under pounding seas and gale-force winds.

Rescuers had been spurred by mysterious tapping sounds from the tower, indicating survivors might be trapped in watertight compartments.

"It is now a salvage operation," said Rear Adm. Allen M. Shinn, who directed the fruitless rescue attempt from aboard the aircraft carrier Wasp.

Charge Former WCFL Chief With Tax Evasion

CHICAGO (AP) — Martin F. Hogan, former general manager of Chicago radio station WCFL, has been indicted for wilful failure to file U.S. income tax returns from 1954 through 1958.

Hogan's attorney, William Barnett, said Hogan would surrender today and post $1,000 bond.

The indictment was returned by a federal grand jury Tuesday before U.S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry.

Hogan failed to report income totaling $273,272, said Harvey M. Silets, the U.S. district attorney's chief tax lawyer.

A close friend of some top Chicago Democratic politicans, Hogan became general manager of WCFL in 1952.

William A. Lee, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor, which operates WCFL, said Hogan took a leave of absence last August "because of illness" and then resigned effective Dec. 1 "without explanation."

Federal officials said they did not know the amount of taxes due on the unreported income, but they said the government can sue to recover when the amount is determined.

Silets said conviction could result in a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $50,000 — one year and $10,000 on each of five counts in the indictment.

BERGANDO TO TAKE CHARGE OF U.I. UNIT IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP)—Dr. Joseph S. Begando today was named vice president in charge of the University of Illinois' professional colleges in Chicago.

Dr. Begando, 40, has held that post on an acting basis since last June following the resignation of Dr. Herbert E. Longenecker, who became president of Tulane University.

The university's board of trustees also confirmed the appointments of:

Dr. Melvin Sabshin, 35, as head of the psychiatry department of the college of medicine, effective Sept. 1. He now is on the staff of Michael Reese Hospital in Chicago.

Dr. Paul E. Nielson to serve as acting head of the department until September. Dr. Francis Gerty, who had held the position, now is director of the Illinois Welfare Department.

The song "Dixie" was composed by Dan Emmett in 1859 for a minstrel show.

WIFE OF RETIRED STATE HIGH COURT JUSTICE, DIES

SYCAMORE (AP) —Mrs. Laura Busey Fulton, 83, wife of Judge William J. Fulton, retired justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, died Tuesday in a Sycamore hospital. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Mrs. Fulton was a native of Urbana, Ill., and attended the University of Illinois.

She is survived by Judge Fulton and three children; William J. Jr., of Cos Cob, Conn., United Nations correspondent of the Chicago Tribune Press Service; Robert B. Fulton of Redwood City Calif., president of the Sequoia Wire and Cable Co., and Mrs. James B. Reston, of Washington D.C., wife of the Washington correspondent of the New York Times.

Plus Talk With Tailor—

Kennedy Has Round Of New York Conferences

By MARVIN ARROWSMITH

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy ducked away from the pre-inaugural hubbub in Washington for a round of Manhattan conferences today—and a session with his tailor.

Kennedy arranged a late morning meeting with Puerto Rico's Governor Luis Munoz Marin. He may confer during the afternoon with Hugh Gaitskell, leader of Britain's Labor party. Aides indicated he will receive other callers at his Carlyle Hotel suite.

Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, said tailor Sam Harris plans to visit the suite sometime during the day for a final fitting of the stripped trousers and cutaway coat the president-elect will wear at his inauguration in Washington Friday noon.

Kennedy arrived in New York from Washington shortly after midnight. He traveled aboard a chartered commercial plane because the Kennedy family's private two-engine Convair had been dispatched to Palm Beach, Fla., to bring his wife to Washington.

Mrs. Kennedy, scheduled to arrive in the capital in the afternoon, has been recuperating in Florida since the caesarean birth of a son last Nov. 25.

Kennedy intends to fly back to Washington tonight and probably will attend another of the many pre-inaugural private parties being held there.

He went to two in the capital Tuesday night, a few hours after arriving from Palm Beach.

The first was at the Georgetown home of his sister and brother-in-law, the Stephen Smiths. He spent about an hour and 40 minutes there among some of the high officials of the new administration, capital society leaders and stage and screen personalities.

Then he went on to a downtown hotel for a 15-minute stay at a party given by an old friend, Bert Lytton, chairman of the California Democratic finance committee.

Takes Action To Settle Harbor Craft Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold A. Felix, New York City labor commissioner, took emergency action today to settle the harbor craft strike that has caused a vast railroad commuter tieup and halted service on the New York Central's main line between here and Albany.

Felix sought to set up a top-level meeting of both sides in the strike, Mayor Robert F. Wagner and representatives of the National Mediation Board.

Picketing by striking railroad harbor craft crewmen led to cancellation of service for the New York Central's 40,000 commuters in the metropolitan area Tuesday.

Thonsands of long-distance passengers were forced to use buses between New York City and Albany because of the stoppage of Central trains into and out of Grand Central Terminal.

The nine-day-old strike of 664 marine crewmen against 11 railroads operating in the harbor has hit hardest at 70,000 commuters.

In addition to the 40,000 New York Central commuters who felt the impact Tuesday, 30,000 commuters between New Jersey points and Manhattan have born the brunt of the strike.

HYDROPLANE RACER DIES

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Louis J. Fageol, 54, noted hydroplane race driver and retired bus manufacturer, died Monday of a heart condition and other ailments. He retired in 1958 as chairman of the Twin Coach Bus Co. of Kent, Ohio. He was born in Oakland, Calif.

Dirksen Joins In Tributes To Richard Nixon

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon packed today for his departure from Washington with the assurances of GOP colleagues that future national service awaits him.

Nixon was said by aides to be undecided yet on which of several offers he will accept from law firms in California.

The Nixon home in a fashionable Washington residential district is up for sale. Whether his two daughters will remain in school here until June hasn't been decided.

Several of his Republican senatorial colleagues told Nixon Tuesday that though he may be leaving office Friday because of his narrow defeat in the presidential race, they expect him to be back in harness again.

Nixon is regarded as one of the likely contenders for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination. He has indicated he does not plan to run in 1962 for any California office.

Nixon touched off a 75-minute series of tributes—including some from Democrats—when he said goodby to the Senate Tuesday.

The vice president left behind a gift of two three-minute glass sand timers. He said subsequent presiding officers could juggle them to enforce the three-minute rule on speakers in what the Senate knows as its "morning hour."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois praised Nixon as "one of the most distinguished vice presidents of this country."

Nixon sat quietly, twisting a ball of paper in his hand as others joined in tributes.

Sums Up Administration—

Ike Calls Peace Major Success

Beat Lumumba During Transfer To Katanga

By ADRIAN PORTER

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Katanga government announced today that deposed Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba and two close associates had been transferred to a jail in Katanga Province because their army confinement near Leopoldville was not considered secure.

Swedish U.N. troops at the Elisabethville airport when the fiery ex-premier arrived Tuesday said European-officered units of the Katanga police beat the three prisoners unmercifully. Lumumba was reported badly bruised.

The Katanga government — headed by an arch enemy of Lumumba, Provincial President Moise Tshombe—said the captives were taken to a place outside Elisabethville.

A Swedish source said they were in jail at Jadotville, about 60 miles from Elisabethville.

Lumumba has been held at the military camp at Thysville, 80 miles southwest of Leopoldville, the Congo capital, but was freed briefly there Friday when some of the garrison rioted over pay. The ex-premier did not get away from the camp, but rumors that he was free set off a panic among anti-Lumumba Belgians and Congolese in Leopoldville.

A Katanga government communique said Congo President Joseph Kasavubu had requested Lumumba's transfer because "the Thysville prison did not offer sufficient guarantees."

Swedish U.N. troops on guard at Elisabethville airport when Lumumba arrived said he and two other prisoners with him got "a terrific beating" from Katanga police at the airport. The other two prisoners were the youth minister in Lumumba's Cabinet, Maurice Mpolo, and the vice president of the Congo Senate, Joseph Okito.

"It was sickening," one of the soldiers said.

"I had to turn away," said an airport official. "It was too much for me to watch."

Lumumba and his companions reportedly groaned while the assault was taking place but did not protest or ask for mercy. The ex-premier was reported severely bruised.

Rules Committee Membership Hike Gains House OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats at a harmonious caucus today approved an increase in Rules Committee membership to break a coalition's grip on that committee.

They shouted approval of a resolution by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas to increase the membership to 15 from 12, with 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans.

There was no roll-call vote.

Rules Chairman Howard W. Smith of Virginia told the caucus he would call a committee meeting to act on the increase as soon as the committee is formally created, probably next week.

It was one of the briefest caucuses in party history, lasting only about 15 minutes.

The action, subject to House approval probably next week, represented an initial victory for Rayburn in his drive to crack the Rules Committee control held in the past by a coalition of four Republicans and two Southern Democrats.

Northern Democrats had predicted in advance that the caucus would approve the change.

They were less confident about how the plan will fare on the House floor, where Republicans and Southern Democrats have combined in the past to have a dominant voice in the House.

The final outcome could have a great bearing on the success of President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program.

DIRKSEN PRESENTS BILL FOR LOCKS ON ILLINOIS WATERWAYS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., has reintroduced a bill to authorize construction of a series of duplicate locks on the Illinois Waterway.

The aim of the proposal, the Senate minority leader said Tuesday, is to permit the waterway to handle some of the commerce moving into the Middle West via the St. Lawrence Seaway. The measure was passed by the Senate last year, but deleted later in conference.

The locks would be built at Lockport, Brandon Road, Dresden Island, Marseilles, Starved Rock, Peoria and La Grange.

Reds Make Advance In Laos

By ROY ESSOYAN

THA THOM, Laos (AP)—Pro-Communist rebels bore down on two key government positions in south central Laos today, and the outnumbered defenders prepared to take to the jungle for guerrilla operations.

"The Reds are coming—there is no question about it," said Maj. Phong Kave, commander of the undersized battalion at Tha Thom.

"We are reverting back to guerrilla warfare," said Col. Kham Khong at Paksane.

Swarming through the jungles, two rebel columns struck out across the narrow waist of this tiny Buddhist kingdom.

The double-barrelled attack scattered government forces massing at Paksane, 90 miles northeast of Vientiane, and this forward outpost 40 miles to the north. The rebel advance spelled doom, at least for the present, to government plans to mount an attack from Paksane and Tha Thom on the rebel-held Plaine des Jarres and Xieng Khouang Province to the north and northeast.

Col. Khan, who was to have led the offensive from Paksane, said his defense forces for the entire area totalled two battalions, half of them in Tha Thom and the other half scattered through the mountains. He had only 70 men in Paksane itself Tuesday.

On the western front government forces were meeting with more success.

The capture of Vang Vieng, on the road to Luang Prabang, the royal seat 140 miles north of Vientiane, cleared the way for a flanking movement against the Plaine des Jarres.

Rebel commander Kong Le offered only token resistance in Vang Vieng. His forces pulled back to guard the plateau, which is the rebel's important air and communications area.

CHARGE SECRETARY EMBEZZLED $28,900 FARM BUREAU FUNDS

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill. (AP)— The Madison county grand jury Tuesday indicted Mrs. Cecilia Hanvey, long-time office secretary of the Madison County Farm Bureau, for a $28,900 embezzlement from the organization.

Mrs. Hanvey resigned last summer after about 20 years with the bureau.

The indictment alleged the money was taken between Feb. 1, 1958, and Aug. 1, 1960. A shortage was discovered last October.

In Era Of War Threats

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today he considers the greatest achievement of his eight years in office was the preservation of peace in an era when weakness would almost certainly have brought disastrous war.

Eisenhower gave this appraisal in his last presidential news conference, attended by 280 reporters who crowded into the ornate Indian Treaty Room of the old State Department Building.

The 70-year-old soldier-president dealt quickly, smilingly and emphatically with questions concerned with foreign and domestic problems. He spoke most movingly when asked what he considered his most satisfying achievement.

* * *

His great disappointment, Eisenhower said, was that the nation could not be brought to the place where it could be said that peace with justice was in sight.

As for achievements, Eisenhower went on, the eight years spanned a period in which the Russians achieved the hydrogen bomb, built an arsenal of nuclear

But Crises Can't Wait—

Need Breather On Foreign Policy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The incoming Kennedy administration needs a foreign policy breathing spell of several months after inauguration to get its policies in shape for major negotiations with the Soviet Union.

Well-informed diplomats believe President-elect John F. Kennedy and his secretary of state-designate, Dean Rusk, will seek to avoid any important new foreign commitments or proposals until next spring or summer.

Meantime Kennedy and Rusk will have to deal with crises as they arise. The most urgent of these at present is the civil war in Laos where both the United States and the Soviet Union are involved through aid to the contending factions.

The breathing spell, as the diplomats see it, will be a period of intensive policy review in Washington and probably top-level Allied consultation. There is some speculation that after a period of months Kennedy might be interested in arranging a completely informal, brief, talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Certainly, it is believed here, Kennedy would want to meet with Allied leaders briefly and informally before any get-together with Khrushchev. There also is speculation that perhaps in the spring he would undertake a flying visit to Europe to see such men as British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany.

Kennedy has been in frequent touch with Rusk, whose headquarters are in the State Department. Their conferences are understood to have been primarily concerned with developments in Laos, Cuba, and other trouble spots and with the selection of chief officials for the State Department.

One early move which the experts consider probable is the recall from Moscow of Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson for consultation. Kennedy is sure to be under steady pressure from Khrushchev to say whether he would eventually be willing to have a summit confer-

Demo Donkey, Other Livestock For Parade

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everything seems about ready for John F. Kennedy's big presidential inauguration Friday, including 275 horses, 22 mules and 1 burro.

This livestock statistic was hurled out today by a breathless inaugural committee.

Many of its earlier tidbits dealt with the latest formidable weapons the armed forces will display, and with the electronic gadgetry aimed at keeping the parade on time.

But in news release No. 185, issued today, the committee did a complete about face.

"In no other parade," the committee proudly reported, "have there been so many horses."

This seems surprising since horses were standard presidential locomotion in the old days and Warren G. Harding was the first to forsake them and ride to his inauguration in an automobile.

But admittedly 275 add up to a lot of horseflesh, and of course the Army is prepared. Two horse ambulances, each with a veterinarian and an assistant, will be parked along the parade route to assist any beast needing first aid.

The mules wear miniature fezzes between their ears. Their sponsors are the Colorado Springs, Colo., Al Kaly Temple of Shriners. The burro, symbol of the Democratic party, will pull a miniature float preceding the mule train.

What started out as one inaugural ball Friday night has now branched out into five. Two more were added Tuesday, which will give us dancers room for whirling, or watching, away in four hotel ballrooms and the National Guard Armory.

No one seems to have passed long enough to count the tickets sold, but the figure usually used is 25,000, a fair-sized crowd when you remember that the cheapest ticket costs $25 and that a box seating eight brings in $200.

Editorial Comment

How Much Time?

Since the 1960 election the complaint has often been offered that too much time exists between that date and the inauguration of a new president. There are those, however, who are arguing just the reverse—that the time is all too short to encompass the difficulties of transition.

The president-elect must choose not only his cabinet but hundreds of other top policy makers. Practically speaking, these ought to be selected before he takes office.

Beyond this, it would be helpful if he could get well under way on the burdensome chore of filling some 5,000 additional federal jobs which are not under civil service.

The president-elect and his key policy makers, furthermore, need every possible minute to learn the complexities of the problems and tasks they will face. It's not like taking over the presidency of a corporation with which you are already largely familiar.

The fine-threaded intricacies of government today cannot be quickly grasped but must be mastered slowly and surely. The 10½ weeks between election and inauguration may not be enough.

As some observers have shrewdly pointed out, the president-elect not only needs time to study policy matters, he needs the opportunity to draw counsel from many varied sources which will not in every case be open to him once he is installed.

It is the one time in his presidential career when he can seek advice anywhere and everywhere, without undercutting or handicapping established members of his top team.

As soon as he takes office, he is committed largely to listening to just that advice which his chosen policy makers give him. This is understandable, but it is undeniably limiting.

President-elect Kennedy is widely considered to have made good use of this advice-seeking period. But many feel it would be better if it were longer.

Those who favor a quicker changeover believe they are arguing for greater continuity of authority and action. It may well be that they are arguing for less. To thrust a new, unpracticed leadership team into office quickly might in fact produce a sharp break in the continuity of effective government.

"Chicken!"

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This gives a picture of how government expenses have gone up, particularly military expenses.

In 1950 President Truman sent his last budget to Congress before the Korean War started. It called for a total of only $42.5 billion for all government expenses. Out of the total, he said, the military needed only $13.5 billion.

Came the war. Expenses soared. The war ended over six years ago. But increased government responsibilities have kept expenses high. And military expenses, because of the intense contest with communism, have mounted.

In his budget message to Congress Monday President Eisenhower asked almost $81 billion—nearly double the $42.5 billion Truman requested to cover all government spending.

And — whereas Truman asked for only $13.5 for the military, out of his total budget of $42.5 billion, Eisenhower requests $42.9 billion for the armed forces, more than Truman asked for the whole government in 1950.

But Eisenhower's budget — for the fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30, 1962—will be both a memory piece and a yardstick.

In figuring a budget every agency of government has to estimate how much it will need to run another year. All these figures are reviewed and reviewed in an effort to keep them down.

This all takes a lot of time and doing, so much that the Eisenhower administration began putting together last fall the budget Eisenhower turned over to Congress Monday.

Obviously President-elect John F. Kennedy won't have time for all this. He won't submit his own budget until this time next year. But this year his administration will have spending ideas different from Eisenhower's.

Since Kennedy's ideas on what needs to be done — expressed in the campaign — go beyond anything Eisenhower had in mind in his budget, Kennedy probably will want to spend more than Eisenhower allowed for.

He'll run into a lot of criticism and heckling on this. His critics will use Eisenhower's budget estimates as a yardstick for measuring Kennedy's programs.

Still, Eisenhower was dealing in optimism in telling Congress he thought that he had figured things so closely that the government should wind up in the black.

While he suggested spending about $81 billion, he thought government income, from taxes and other revenue, would be even larger and that the country would wind up with a surplus of about $1.5 billion.

But this was optimism based on the hope that there would be a surplus only if the country became more prosperous and Congress increased postal rates and the gasoline tax and set up a new tax on jet fuel. Maybe it would, but its inclinations run the other way.

'Cloud Surgeons' May Be Innocent Infection Carriers

BY H. T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written For
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Regular readers of these columns may recall the report of "cloud babies" who bring home hospital - acquired staphylococci and then proceed to produce infections in various members of the household.

As the result of an investigation conducted under the auspices of the U.S. Public Health Service and the staff of the St. Joseph's Infirmary of Atlanta, Ga., "cloud babies" now are joined by "cloud surgeons" as innocent carriers of infection.

Briefly stated, the attention of the Atlanta investigators was called to an increasing number of "staph" infections in surgical wounds. The group suspected a human source. By a combination of Sherlock Holmes-like deductions and laboratory tests, the finger of suspicion pointed to a staff member, designated Surgeon C in the report.

It was found that cultures of his nose, face and hands were laden with the particular strain of staphylococci responsible for all wound infections. When this information became available, Surgeon C was sent on a three-week vacation. During this period he was vigorously treated with antibiotics. And, while he was absent from the infirmary, postoperative wound infections ceased to appear.

On his return, Surgeon C was subjected to an intensive re-examination. When the infecting strain of staphylococci could no longer be demonstrated, Surgeon C was permitted to return to his duties. For several months thereafter, there were no further infections.

After six months of uninterrupted wound healing, a pair of postoperative infections was observed. Cultural studies were resumed. And, once again, Surgeon C was found to be the healthy and innocent carrier of the particular Staphylococcal strain present in the infected wounds. Again the "cloud surgeon" absented himself. And, with his departure, the problem of wound infections ceased to exist.

Apart from the practical value of these studies in the prevention of postoperative complications, publication of this report in the Journal of the American Medical Association is an achievement to which every physician may point with great pride.

A little more than 100 years ago, Dr. Ignaz Philipp Semmelweis was driven from his post in Vienna for daring to suggest that puerperal or childbirth fever was caused by mysterious agents (now identified as streptococci, carried to the delivery room by physicians who had recently attended autopsies.

And, in America, a group of prominent physicians demanded that Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes resign his professorship at the Harvard Medical School when he spoke and wrote in defense of his European colleague.

Now, a century later, acting on behalf of patients throughout the world, the Georgia investigators and the editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association unhesitatingly publish information that their colleagues of a 100 years ago would have fought to suppress, in a mistaken belief that they were acting in the "best interests" of their profession.

RELIGION AND HEALTH

NEW YORK (AP) — A relation between religion and mental health "is self-evident"—but it can be either positive or negative —Hans Hofmann says in a new book, "The Ministry and Mental Health," published by Association Press. He writes:

"Since religion constitutes a profound and ultimate commitment, it provides either an orientation which channels the expressions and activities of the person positively or one which curtails the relf-realization of the person when his religious tenets are contradicted."

Time Leaves Its Indelible Mark On Everyone But 'Your's Truly

By HAL BOYLE

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—He looked familiar across the crowded ballroom, but for a moment I couldn't place him.

Then it came back to me. Why, of course. How could I ever forget? I had known his son well in high school, and had visited in his house several times then.

"It's a real pleasure to see you again, sir," I said, stepping up and wringing him by the hand. "You probably don't remember me, but I used to know your son Joe real well—years and years ago."

The man stared at me, then said: "You really are lost. I am Joe. I wondered when you were going to say hello."

Well, that's the way it is. They say you can't come home again. This isn't true. You can come home again.

But if you meet high school classmates after a quarter of a century or more you find something has happened to them.

You feel you are still the razzle-dazzle kid who used to drive the study hall teacher crazy. Nothing has changed you. But your classmates are different.

The girls look like their mothers, the boys like their fathers.

What has time done to them? It is very hard to understand.

It is now 24 years this very month that I left this lovely home town of mine—the heart of America—to storm New York City with empty pockets and a head full of dreams.

Through the years I have come back home as often as I could, as most sons of the Midwest do, to drink again from the renewing common sense fountain that flows deepest in the center of our continent.

On each visit I could see signs of vital change in terms of expansion and new building, but also signs of decay in things I would like to remain fixed forever as I had known them in my childhood.

The city was getting younger and fresher and taller, but the people and houses I had known were getting older and more tired.

On this trip, for example, Punky, the family dog, who is 9 years old, didn't bark when my cab rolled up to the house. She stood there waiting, like a cinnamon-colored duchess — she's mostly Chinese chow—until I patted her on the head. Then she smiled gravely and moved heavily after me to the front door.

"Poor Punky," said my mother later. "She has a bad cyst on her leg. We've given her X rays, and she's had two operations—and the doctor says a third won't do any good.

"It may be necessary later to put her to sleep, and I just can't think about it. None of us can. She has been such a good dog."

When you come home again, news like that depresses you. You feel the weight of mortality pressing on others. But somehow you feel impervious to change yourself. You are still as young as the day you left town. Nothing has happened to you.

The other night I went to a social occasion and overheard a couple talking.

"He's beginning to look more and more like his father," he said. "It's almost creepy."

"Oh, no," she disagreed. "His father never lost that much hair—and he would never have let himself get that fat."

He shushed her. "Be careful. He's standing right there."

They walked away. It took me a full two minutes to realize whom they had been talking about.

Change plays no favorites.

You can go home again—but you can't bring back quite the same person you took when you left.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For once, Lawrence Welk was speechless.

We were lunching at the Brown Derby when Dot Record chief Randy Wood walked in bearing a gift. It was a handsomely framed gold record of "Calcutta," signifying the first time Welk had entered the charmed circle of million sellers.

The music man sputtered, grinned, then beamed. All he could manage to say was: "Congratulate me."

He recovered enough to explain his joy: "I've been trying for this ever since I started recording, back in 1928. I remember I paid $400 to a recording outfit for 2,000 or 3,000 records and we sold them ourselves when we played dates."

Early in the war, he almost caught fire with a record, but shortage of shellac nipped the hit in the bud. Even after he became a TV sensation, he couldn't get close to a million singles. How did he do it?

He pointed toward Wood, the young Tennesseean who branched out from a one-man operation to a multimillion-dollar enterprise.

"Randy called me at dinner one night and asked me to drop by his house," Welk related. "He played me a record of a number he wanted me to do. I tried to think of a way I could tell him I thought it was terrible and still not hurt his feelings."

Wood prevailed and Welk recorded "Last Date," a rumbling instrumental with the unmistakable thump of rock 'n' roll. It sold 300,000. Then came "Calcutta," with a beat that even Elvis could pulsate to. Wood predicts it will go two million. The "Calcutta" album is expected to hit 500,000.

He's still a bit dazed by it all.

"When I rode in the Hollywood Christmas parade, the teen-agers were yelling for me—imagine!" said Welk, who is more accustomed to adulation of the elders.

FLASHING PURCHASE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Electrifying is the word for the young lady who entered a photo supply shop and bought a roll of film and some flash bulbs.

"When she was about half way to the door, there was this funny flash," said Gene Kramer, a store employe. "She came back and said, 'My flash bulbs exploded.' The six bulbs on one side of the carton were burned out. The package was hot."

The puzzled Kramer, who gave the young woman new film and bulbs, said he had never heard of such a thing. Neither had the manufacturer of the bulbs.

Ike's Final Budget Clues Kennedy to Job Ahead

BY PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON —(NEA)— Immensity and complex detail of new 80.9 billion dollar budget which President Eisenhower has just sent to Congress preclude any possibility that the Kennedy administration can throw it in the trash can, write a new one and get Congress to enact it in the next six months.

There is, moreover, a tremendous amount of good sense in the last Eisenhower budget message which the "New Frontier" brain trusters cannot ignore. This is not exclusively the product of Republican thinking. It is the work of career civil servants and planners who will continue to run the government under Kennedy and want it run right.

The President's budget message makes 85 recommendations for new legislation. It is easy to identify the dozen or so strictly Republican or "Eisenhower" policies which the Kennedy administration will probably ignore. They are the ones Ike has made before and Congress has done nothing about.

They include such things as his repeated requests for authority to veto individual items in appropriation bills, a recommendation that state and local governments be forced to pay a larger share of disaster relief and flood prevention costs, his plan to establish borrower-owned institutions to finance rural electrification or telephone loans and to increase the taxation on co-operatives.

Eisenhower legislative recommendations which the Kennedy administration and the new Congress must consider seriously include such things as raising the national debt limit, ending the present interest rate ceilings on long term government bonds, extending corporate and excise tax rates.

The President asks for continuation of the government reorganization act and authority to reorganize the executive offices, which Kennedy will also want.

Eisenhower proposes co-ordination of Army Engineers, Bureau of Reclamation and Federal Power Commission authority for river basin survey and development. He asks for creation of a new Cabinet Department of Transportation. These make just as much sense as President Kennedy's own proposal to create a Department of Urban Affairs.

The Eisenhower recommendations for longer term financing of foreign aid programs and authorization of U.S. participation in the new Atlantic Community Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development are considered "musts" for the new administration.

Likewise, Eisenhower proposals for reorganization of the space programs, establishment of permanent authority for major housing programs, improvement of antitrust legislation and other commerce and industry regulation legislation will have to be faced by the Kennedy administration.

On these and farm legislation recommendations like extension of the sugar act, adoption of a wheat program and modification of price supports, the new administration is bound to come up with solutions differing from those proposed.

On Eisenhower proposals for amending present laws on minimum wage rates, unemployment insurance, health care for the aged and aid to depressed areas, the new administration will come up with its own conditions and probably larger amounts.

But Ike's budget for next year is by no means an economy budget. It calls for expenditures of two billion dollars more than for this year. It is not pared to the bone to make the incoming administration look bad if it appropriates larger government expenses.

And if the new Congress turns down Eisenhower's repeated proposal for increased postage rates and higher gasoline taxes, new sources of revenue must be found.

What the Eisenhower list of legislative recommendations emphasizes is the large areas of unfinished government business which the deaprting administration leaves behind.

'First Lady' Cake Would Be Ideal for a White House Tea

"FIRST LADY" cake, made from cherry cake mix, would be a compliment to the skill of the first lady of any house.

GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

An engraved invitation to tea at the White House is always big news in the social life of Washington. Shortly, the tradition of elegant afternoon tea in the presidential mansion, begun by Dolly Madison, will be continued by the new and gracious First Lady.

We asked Miss Letitia K. Baldridge, who is to be Mrs. Kennedy's social secretary, what the new First Lady will serve at tea. But Miss Baldridge said she will not know for a few weeks. Then, she promised, she will give this column an exclusive report.

In the meantime, we respectfully suggest the following recipe for "First Lady" cake to the youthful and beautiful new hostess at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue.

"FIRST LADY" CAKE

CAKE: 1 package Cherry Cake Mix

Prepare Cherry Cake Mix according to package directions. Pour batter into two well-greased and floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in preheated 350-degree F. oven 30 to 35 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool 10 minutes in pans. Turn out on wire racks. Cool thoroughly.

FROSTING:

1½ cups sugar
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup water
2 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1/3 cup heated, strained cherry preserve

Combine all ingredients except cherry preserve and vanilla in the top of a double boiler and place over hot water. Beat until frosting will stand in peaks (about 7 minutes). Remove from heat. Add vanilla and continue to beat.

FILLING:

½ cup frosting
1/3 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1/3 cup chopped raisins
1/3 cup chopped pecans

Mix ½ cup frosting, cherries, raisins and nuts until well blended. Spread between cake layers. Frost entire cake with remaining frosting. Decorate cake with "Cherry wells" of 1/3 cup heated, strained cherry preserve.

Going to Work, Mother? Ponder Effect on Children

Before a mother decides to go to work to give her children "more advantages" she ought to sit down and consider the advantages she is giving them as a full-time homemaker that will no longer be theirs if she goes to work full-time.

The biggest advantage a full-time homemaker gives her children is just being around when they need her. When they rush home from school, eager for a warm welcome. When they have problems they need to have lightened by sharing. When they need a helping hand with their projects.

The next biggest advantage the full-time mother gives her children is the feeling that she has time for them—that she isn't too rushed or harried or dog-tired to listen when they want to talk, to do with and for them the things that are important (such as being a home room mother or a Brownie leader), to have time for family projects and family fun.

Another big advantage, though children may not themselves be aware of it, is that the full-time homemaker can often do a better job of steering her children in the right direction simply because she has a better chance to guide them than the mother who is gone from home all day.

So any mother who is trying to decide whether or not to take on a full-time job should be sure that she weighs the advantages she can give her children by not working against those she can give them by taking a job.

The advantages that cost money aren't the only ones that are important to children. They may not even be the most important ones.

So any mother who is considering taking on a job for the sake of her family's welfare should be sure that she isn't taking more from her children than she will be able to give them in return.

The Mature Parent

Be Alert to Strange Envy Of Kindness to Children

MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The crash sounds like breaking china.

We call "Larry?" and rush to the living room. There, Larry doesn't have to explain what's happened. All the elements of his disastrous disobedience are before our eyes.

On the mantel is the box of peanut brittle reserved for his after-supper treat. There's the pillow on the sofa arm with which he has tried to reach it. Beside it the end table from which he has knocked our china lamp.

We look from its shattered pieces to our 7-year-old's face and in it see such shock and dismay that we forget the lamp. We take him in our arms: he bursts into tears; we say, "Sh-sh, it's all right." And it IS all right. We have seen the remorseful soul of our son in his eyes and have given it comfort.

The next day we are unaccountably irritable with Larry. With a horrid suspicion that we are "spoiling" him, we make a big scene over his failure to change his school pants.

We are suffering from jealousy of Larry. We are furious that he has received a comfort from us that we did not receive.

In this strange envy of the kindness we ourselves have given to children is the root of the parental "inconsistency" of which child guidance experts are always complaining.

Examine yourself for this queer after-effect of hostility toward the youngster to whom you've given warmth and understanding. Usually you'll find it.

When you find it, recognize it as jealousy. If you do, memories of your own uncomforted childhood will flood back.

You will recall the time Mother said, "Don't make a mountain out of a molehill" when you brought her the pain of a snub by a friend. You'll remember the loneliness of punishments and the grown-ups' refusal to see your remorseful soul in your eyes.

When you've collected enough memories of the uncomforted hurts of your own childhood, you'll know what I say is true. You'll know that your after-resentment at the child to whom you have given forbearance is not fear of "spoiling" him at all but jealousy of the forebearance nobody gave to you.

With this knowledge, your "inconsistency" can end.

We'll be able to give love to Larry unalloyed by the envy that makes us kind today and mean tomorrow. And know ourselves a little better, too.

...ter of FACT

Faded advertisements show they had "wonder drugs" way back in Civil War times: "Scalds and burns may prove dangerous and perhaps fatal. A kick of a horse may cause a bad bruise. The slip of an axe may cause a serious cut. Have you Peter Perry's Pain Killer handy? It has no equal for the cure of scalds, burns, cuts, swellings, bruises, sores, insect bites—etc."

Assembly To Solicit Funds For Swimming Pool In Scott

By Dorothy Sauer
(Winchester Correspondent)
(Telephone Pioneer 2-3439)

WINCHESTER — The General Assembly meeting of the Winchester Woman's Club was held Monday at Sibert Hall commencing with a 6:15 o'clock dinner served by the ladies of the church.

Mrs. Opal Waggoner, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. H. B. Corrie, Mrs. Norbert Hutchens, and Miss Lois Coultas were named as members of the nominating committee. Mrs. James Henderson and Miss Barbara Waggener were elected new members of the club. It was voted to donate $5 to the 1961 March of Dimes drive.

The swimming pool project was discussed at some length with the following decisions being made: Mrs. R. R. Funk, chairman of the project, stated that a county wide solicitation of funds for the pool would be commenced in the near future.

The club members voted that if the solicitations received did not double the present bank balance of the project, the club donation to this project would be returned, together with accrued interest. Also, that if the pool fund is near its goal the club would wait another six months period before having their donation returned to their club to be used for another project.

James Saffer, representing the local Legion Post, presented facts to the women about the honor roll plaque concerning the cost of repair, and the possibility of a new plaque.

Mrs. James Sturgeon introduced the guest speaker for the evening's meeting, Eldon Atwood, superintendent of schools in Pittsfield. Mr. Atwood's topic was "Civil Defense" and he told of the civil defense program and survival plan for the state of Illinois and the warning system in the U.S. for all over the world. He stressed being prepared stating that our enemies would think before acting if we are prepared for invasion.

He described the preparation each family should make to protect themselves from nuclear attacks. Each family should have a shelter three feet underground, not unlike the old-fashioned outdoor food cellars, with food and water enough for 14 days plus one essential piece of equipment—a battery operated radio for outside information.

Mr. Atwood stated that rural areas, such as Scott and Pike counties, would have an increase in population of five times its present populace in a short while should a warning come that an industrial area was being attacked. He urged all to be ready for such an attack could happen. Further information may be had by writing to the Illinois Civil Defense in Chicago.

Guests at the meeting were Mrs. Atwood, Mayor Horace Walmsley of Winchester, H. B. Corrie and James Saffer of Winchester.

Mrs. Eddinger is the former Miss Shirley Coon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coon of Winchester.

Men's Fellowship

The Men's Fellowship group of the First Baptist church in Winchester held its regular meeting this past Monday evening, 7:30 p.m., in the church basement with 17 members present. Group singing was held accompanied by Mrs. Irene Edwards.

Truman Scott, president, presided over the business meeting at which time plans were made for the Union Fellowship meeting to be held on March 22. A committee of men including Robert Worrell, Harry Taylor and Lloyd Wallis was appointed to make arrangements for this meet.

Plans were formulated for the Pancake and Sausage Day to be on February 25 and the following committees appointed to serve: Tickets: Ronald Hoots, Dale Slater, William McLaughlin; Pancakes — George Lashmett, Ben Pokrwinski; Sausage—Watson Taylor; Tables—Truman Scott, Lloyd Wallis.

Mrs. Horace Walmsley presented the program for the evening at which time she showed slides and told of her recent visit in Oberammergau, Germany.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by the committee in charge.

March Of Dimes

The 1961 March of Dimes contributions are continuing to come in each day as Scott County citizens give cash donations in an effort to assist in the great national campaign for infantile paralysis and to assist in the research programs for birth defects and arthritis.

Approximately 1400 letters were sent out in this county two weeks ago and the local board is grateful for the contributions received to date. If you have put your envelope aside, please think of these facts—"There are approximately 250,000 American children born each year with significant birth defects." We cannot and must never forget the thousands of stricken polio patients.

The "Mother's March" this year in Winchester will be held on January 31 with Mrs. George Lashmett in charge. Girl Scout mothers and other volunteers will be assisting in the March.

Hear Report On Medical Payola At Winchester

WINCHESTER — Scott County Research Forum No. 24 met at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vortman of Bluffs on Monday commencing with a 6:30 o'clock dinner served by the hostess and her daughter.

The meeting was presided over by Virgil Coughlin, president, and programs for the year were arranged.

The host, Mr. Vortman, presented the paper for the evening on "The Falsifying of Medical Truth for Commercial Profit." It was stated that the paper "was not an attack on doctors in general nor the proper practice of medicine free from corruption, which according to the "Oath of Hippocrates" is the noblest of professions but upon mal-practice and the millions of dollars the public is bilked out of through misleading or false advertising."

"The falsifying or distortion of medical truth for commercial profit is done in many ways; it might be through medical trade unions, malpractice, kickbacks, fee splitting, unnecessary surgery, drug monopoly, drug advertising, medical rackets and a host of other crimes. In speaking of the drug racket it was stated that the American Medical Association estimated that $500,000,000 is spent needlessly for vitamins and about $200,000,00 for phony Arthritis remedies. Many other instances of advertising to milk the public were mentioned such as toothpaste, weight reducing formulas and cigarettes."

"A national scandal of almost unprecedented proportions continues because our government is unable to do much about it because the technique of advertising and means of communication have far out-stripped the regulatory and punitive powers of the government."

The paper stated that it takes the postal department about six months to get a fraud order against an advertiser; that to change the advertising of certain pills it took sixteen years and proceedings against a leading cigarette company's false statements took five years.

The paper concluded with the observation that "there seems to be an urgent need for more investigating which should also include the 80 or 90 alleged charitable organizations demanding and threatening the American people out of billions of dollars for which no accounting is given. As Americans we should begin to think for ourselves and not be swayed by all sorts of propagandas and advertising schemes."

Ashland Man Films Stricken East Pakistan

ASHLAND— Mrs. Iris Parsons has received a newspaper from Germany telling of participation of her son, Forrest Hickman of Ashland, in filming the Armed Forces Airlift effort in cyclone devastated East Pakistan.

Two cameramen in the 69th Signal Corps, Joseph Bowen and Hickman, recently flew from the Rhine mainland with tons of blankets, food and medical supplies from the 65th Army stockpile, over 6,000 miles to Dacca, major city of East Pakistan.

The two man photo-team was sent to cover the Army's relief operation and obtain pictorial coverage of the Asian disaster. The men were ready to leave shortly over four hours after receiving their orders. As members of the Army's only photo unit of its kind the two soldiers added another page in the log book of the well traveled photography Unit.

Another Army team recently spent close to a month in politically muddled Congo filming airlift operations there. Still another crew filmed the entire operation when the drama of the ill-fated Lady Be Good ship was written in the Liberian desert this past summer.

Young Hickman graduated from Ashland High school with the class of 1954.

JFK Regime To Have $500 Million To Bolster Farm Product Prices

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The incoming Kennedy administration will have available upwards of $500 million which it could spend in 1961 to bolster producer prices of a wide range of farm products not now covered by price guarantees farm officials said today.

These commodities include beef cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs, poultry, eggs, turkeys, citrus and other fruits, and vegetables.

A long-standing law makes available to the Agriculture Department 30 per cent of custom receipts for use in expanding domestic and foreign markets for farm commodities — principally those not under regular price support programs.

The Eisenhower administration has not been using all these funds. Amounts accumulated in excess of $300 million at the end of fiscal years revert to the general treasury. Usage during the 1960 calendar year totaled only about $105 million.

This fund could be used to help finance a food stamp program under which diets of low income groups could be improved. Government script good for purchase of designated foods at regular grocery stores would be issued to such groups.

With production of poultry, eggs and livestock—particularly beef cattle and hogs—on the increase, there is a possibility these products might run into price troubles later in the year. The custom receipts could be used to finance increased purchase by low-income groups under a food stamp program. Or they could be used for government purchase of these items for direct distribution to the needy through local welfare agencies.

Storing Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The deadline for storing most 1960 cr... under government prices supports is Jan. 31, farm officials said today.

Included are wheat, oats, rye, barley, sorghum grain, soybeans, flaxseed, dry beans and peas and rice. The deadline for corn is May 31.

Officials said reports from the field indicate a sharp pickup in such storage in recent days.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

WEAK HANDS WIN POINTS

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

No one has an opening bid in accordance with standard American practice and when this hand was played at the Nationals most tables passed it out.

The bidding in the box is that at our table. My partner, Curtis Smith, opened one spade since his hand qualifies as an opening bid in our system. It is worth 12 points (10 in high cards, plus two for the singleton) and also has two defensive tricks against any adverse contract.

If he had been allowed to play three clubs he would have made it. As it was, North and South took the hand away from us and South went down one at the three-heart contract. He could have made the hand if he finessed against the jack-ten-nine of hearts in my hand, but South was only looking at his own hand and dummy.

At the tables when West passed and North chose to open the bidding the hand either wound up with South making two hearts or West going down at two spades. West can make the two spade contract, but once more a good look at all hands is essential if he wants to find the winning play.

Incidentally, the North hand is also a Jacoby-Smith opening bid since it has 12 high card points. It is not a standard American opening since it has no additional playing points.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The average American, who hasn't held any gold coin or gold certificates since 1934, may be surprised to learn some of his neighbors do own gold—and just been told to gte rid of it.

Where did they get it? Where do they keep it? And why do they want it instead of dollars they could spend at home?

Until President Eisenhower ordered them to stop buying and owning it abroad, they could legally buy gold bars in Canada, on the London free gold market, in Zurich, Switzerland, or in West Germany, France, the Netherlands and other European countries where buying and holding gold is regulated but not forbidden as it has been in the United States since 1934.

More often than not Americans paid more for their gold than the official U. S. price of $35 an ounce.

The Americans who bought gold had to keep it outside the United States because of our laws restricting most buying and owning of gold to use in industry and the arts. Americans could leave their gold with the Canadian banks that sold it to them, or in the care of European banks or gold brokers. In the case of the Swiss banks, their accounts could have the added secrecy of being known only by a number, rather than by the holder's name.

Why did they want gold? They couldn't bring it home. It cost them storage charges, while their dollars would have brought them interest if lent or profits if put in successful business enterprises.

Some probably bought gold in the belief that the official price would go up eventually and they would make a profit. Repeated denials by U. S. authorities that the price would be changed didn't budge some gold holders from this belief.

Many with business operations overseas found gold handy during the frequent currency crises in other lands in the postwar years. The metal was more stable and always acceptable. And often the local currencies fluctuated widely in relation to the U. S. dollar and sometimes couldn't be exchanged for it at all.

In recent months gold buying has been spurred by the repeated rumors that the steady loss of gold by the U. S. Treasury in the last three years might weaken the dollar's status and thus could lead to raising the official price.

The loss of gold has come about because for three years the American government and citizens have been sending more dollars abroad than they've been getting back. Foreign countries with surplus dollars have turned some of them into gold at the U. S. Treasury.

The Treasury, backed by most banking officials here and abroad, denies the dollar is in any danger or that devaluation through raising the price of gold is likely or necessary, or desireable.

Kennedy Can Count On Plentiful Supply Of Nuclear-Age Problems

EDITOR'S NOTE — One thing the Kennedy administration can count on is a plentiful supply of nuclear-age problems. This third of four articles on the president-elect and his team outlines the magnitude of the challenge.

By RELMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you were in John F. Kennedy's shoes today, where would you start on the towering problems that face the president-elect?

Here is a partial list: Khrushchev and another summit . . . the nation's economy and the dollar . . . Red China . . . disarmament . . . civil rights. . . Castro and communism . . . the farms . . . Laos . . . the schools . . nuclear rockets for NATO . . . labor legislation . . . American prestige.

Some of these could require immediate decisions and action from Kennedy. Others are long-range, not susceptible to quick solutions.

Inevitably there will be still another type, the unforeseen event, the out-of-the-blue problem, to claim his whole attention. For the president of the United States, despite his immense power around the world, is not entirely his own master. Soviet Premier Khrushchev, for example, can disrupt Kennedy's working schedule when it suits him, just by triggering a crisis.

So where would you start?

The outline of Kennedy's approach to some main domestic questions already is known.

It is expected that he will ask Congress for early action in five great fields — aid to depressed areas, housing and the minimum wage, medical care for the aged, and aid to education. He has had task forces of experts studying these questions, and they are reporting to him, with recommendations.

Kennedy used the phrase, "the most important domestic priority," in discussing the report on assistance to depressed areas. And he said, "the entire nation suffers when there is prolonged hardship in any locality."

Therefore, it would seem that this problem will be high on his list of starting-points.

Another task force proposal recommended federal aid to education to the tune of nearly $9.5 billion in the next four years.

But while aid programs cost money, another task force said income taxes may have to be cut to aid the economy.

"Prudent economic policy," the group said, "must face the fact that we go into 1961 with business still moving downward." It said individual income taxes might have to be cut by three to four percentage points, as a temporary shot in the arm to the economy.

Kennedy is expected to recommend increasing the minimum wage to $1.25 an hour—it's $1.00 now—and expanding it to cover five million additional workers.

With respect to a housing bill, he has talked of lower interest rates and easier terms for buying on credit. The housing industry also has been sluggish, and these steps could help.

Apart from these questions of the economy, there is the great and continuing struggle over civil rights. A plank in the Democratic platform called for legislation to provide the attorney general with authority to bring federal injunction suits to enforce desegregation in the schools. The new attorney general will be the president-elect's brother, Robert.

But while Kennedy is concentrating on these domestic issues, Premier Khrushchev most probably will demand a huge share of the new president's time and energy.

Khrushchev was one of the first heads of state to congratulate Kennedy on his election. He sent another message at New Year's, again expressing the desire for improved relations with the United States. Last year Khrushchev clearly indicated that he saw little hope of reaching agreements on Berlin, disarmament, and other outstanding issues with the Eisenhower administration.

So it will come as no surprise if Khrushchev, very soon, proposes another summit, now that a new president is taking office.

Kennedy, in turn, said recently: "I must say that I feel another effort should be made by a new administration in January, 1961, to renew the negotiations with the Soviet Union and see whether it is possible to come to some conclusions which lessen the chances of contamination of the atmosphere and also lessen the chances that other powers will begin to possess a nuclear capacity.

"One of my disagreements with the present administation has been that I don't feel a real effort has been made on this very sensitive subject, not only of nuclear control but also of general disarmament."

The problem of disarmament appears, increasingly, to be becoming also the problem of Red China. There are two reasons:

1. The time may be near when Communist China has succeeded in building its own nuclear weapons.

2. From the beginning of disarmament talks, years ago, this question has confronted the West: "What value would there be in an agreement on disarmament or nuclear testing with the Soviet Union if the agreement did not include Red China?"

Consequently, it seems more than likely that the questions of seating Red China in the United Nations, and recognition of that regime by the United States, will come before Kennedy with more force than it did in the case of his predecessors.

Of more immediate concern are problems stemming from communism in Cuba and the confused, potentially dangerous events in Laos. Either one could present a sudden crisis with which the new president and his chief aides would have to deal promptly.

Kennedy has demonstrated remarkable energy and the capacity to work long and hard. But there are only 24 hours in a day.

XXXIII

As the last panelman was called, Bart heard pounding hooves on the road from the LJ. From where he was, he was unable to see, and he did not want to move, but there were at least three horses, perhaps more.

Willis made a note in his ledger, and said, "Call the first witness."

Temple Houston said in a far-carrying voice: "The first witness is Hector Johnson."

There was a flurry as Hector broke through the ring and went forward.

Hector, white-faced and breathless was sworn.

Temple Houston, his tawny hair golden in the sun, started questioning him. Finally Houston swung and pointed a finger dramatically at Halvorson and Indian George. "Do you know these men?"

"By sight."

"Tell me when you last saw them."

Hector was studying his fingernails. "That was on Wednesday last week."

"Where?"

"In a ravine on the hackberry pasture at the LJ."

"How did you come to know they were there?"

"They had built a branding fire and—"

"Your honor," said Browning. "I object. A conclusion unsupported by the evidence."

"Sustained," said Willis.

Hector got his back up. "Nobody in his right mind would build a fire on a hot day in a place like that unless they were getting ready to burn some hides."

Houston said kindly, "Mr. Johnson, I observed you ride in at a gallop barely in time to take your place in the witness chair, and I perceive that you are still breathing hard and that you exhibit all the indications of a person laboring under great emotional stress."

"Yes, sir."

"Do you mind telling us what it is?"

Browning said, "Objections! Not pertinent to the issue!"

• • •

But Temple Houston for the moment had become obsessed with that mystical quality which his enemies said leagued him with the devil. He peered narrow-eyed at Hector Johnson, and some impulsion drove him to fight for the point.

"I don't know what this man is laboring under, but I do perceive that he is under great stress. I am willing to be bound by his evidence, but if counsel objects after hearing it, I will consent to its being stricken from the record."

For any lawyer to make such a proposition—to himself be bound by the evidence while giving his opponent the choice of acceptance or rejection—was a quick way to judicial suicide, but Houston was gambling on blind intuition, and he was a man who had done that many times and had made it pay off.

Willis studied him and then looked at Hector. Bart leaned forward. Hector's underjaw was quivering.

"You may answer," said Willis.

Hector shouted, "I just came from the Half Moon ranch. Stud Murphy shot Stella Harding and killed her! I brung the body back to the LJ!"

There was a dead and terrible silence for a moment. Then the horsefly buzzed over the area in a circle and headed back toward the blacksmith shop.

Murphy's eyes were distended, and he must have moved forward or started to draw his six-shooter, for all the spectators between him and the judge's bench were flattened against the ground—but Jones had a hand on his forearm, and held him back.

• • •

Willis took a deep breath and looked at his book. "That remark should be stricken from the record."

Temple Houston said with innate dignity, "Yes, your honor. Counsel agrees."

But Hector had made a tremendous point. Stud Murphy stood among them branded as a murderer. Some sort of shootout was inevitable. Under no possible set of circumstances could this first session of court end peacefully, for its very ending probably meant the rope for Murphy. Bart loosened his .44's. He could only speculate on what had happened at the Half Moon. Had Stella, at the last, tried to keep them from coming, knowing that her father might be in the line of fire? Only Hector Johnson knew the answers—unless there were other witnesses—and it came to Bart with a shock that he still did not know where Harding was.

Temple Houston lowered his voice. "I hope you will forgive me, Mr. Johnson, in the face of this great tragedy which understandably has upset you a great deal, but as you know this is a vital case for the entire Panhandle. Do you feel like going on?"

Hector said, as if in great pain, "Go on."

"Tell us about the discovery of these two men in the ravine."

Ethiopians Regard Their 'King Of Kings' With Almost Supernatural Reverence

ADDIS ABABA (AP)—Weeping Ethiopians fell on their faces and kissed the ground as the imperial automobile went by. Then they went to their circular churches on the hilltops and sang hymns of rejoicing and thanksgiving to their emperor — and incidentally, to God.

The little people of Addis Ababa had passed through a three-day nightmare. More than two thousand had fallen victims to the bitter fighting that followed when a clique of the imperial bodyguard launched a revolution.

The simple people were bewildered and frightened. Disaster had befallen them while the emperor was away. But on the fourth day, the emperor returned, and the people's confidence returned with him.

Over and over again, servants and messengers, drivers and garbage collectors, were heard to say: "Now we are safe. The emperor has come back to protect us."

The violence didn't end completely when the emperor returned. The nights still were punctuated by rifle and machinegun fire. The thud of mortars in the hills told of battles being fought. The body of a slain rebel leader hung for 12 hours in busy Menelik Square.

But for most people in Addis Ababa, the rebellion ended with the return of Haile Selassie the First, "Elect of God, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, King of Kings and Emperor of Ethiopia."

The Monarch who attains such supernatural stature in the eyes of his people is a little man physically. He is barely 5½ feet in height and is slightly built. His jet-black beard has a few gray hairs as he goes into his 70th year.

But dimunitive Haile Selassie is a strong man. He has had to be to hold power in this savage country for 43 years. The emperor became the power behind the throne through a palace coup in 1917. He came out on top in a series of bitter civil wars and was crowned emperor in 1930. He survived the onslaught of Mussolini's armies and a series of attempted coups after the war. The December rebellion was the biggest challenge the king of kings has faced in many years.

Even a brief visit to Ethiopia will help explain why only a tough warrior can hold power in this country. The capital has a touch of the 20th century about it, with paved streets, a few modern hotels, and a good airport. But the jungle encroaches wherever the barriers drop.

Hyenas prowl the streets on the edge of Addis Ababa every night to eat from garbage pits. Goats and hump-backed cattle graze in the heart of town. All over the city, you see clusters of thatched-roof mud huts. Now and then you encounter a man dressed in an animal skin.

Step outside the few cities and you enter a world of barbarism. On the central plateau the population is Christian, but their Christianity is a religion in which magic and voodooism play a bigger part than the Gospels. Only a few hundred miles from the emperor's palace live pagans who have not advanced beyond the stone age.

The king of kings reigns over some 40 tribal groups speaking 35 languages and sharply divided between Christians, Moslems, Pagans, and a strange sect which practices a primitive form of Judaism.

This is a jungle world, and jungle methods are used to rule it. The supreme law in Ethiopia is survival of the fittest. For 3,000 years of legend and history, no ruler has handed on the succession peacefully to his own son. Haile Selassie knows his country well, and he has not hesitated to use savage measures to retain his powers.

Lij Yasu, the emperor from whom Haile Selassie seized power, was kept in chains for 19 years until he died. Until lately, public hanging of criminals was the rule.

Those who know Haile Selassie well insist he is humanitarian at heart in spite of his occasional cruel methods. Perhaps this conscience came from the Jesuit priests who educated him in his native province of Harrar. There is no doubt that the emperor yearns to bring 20th century civilization to his remote mountain empire.

Whether the emperor goes about modernizing his country in the right way is debatable. He keeps the machinery of state too tightly in his own grasp, some observers think, but there is no doubt that every ounce of energy in his wiry frame goes into the task.

Progress in Ethiopia tends to ebb and flow with the moods of the emperor. A boulevard will be opened to coincide with completion of a new Afcan house where international conferences will be held. The road to the Japanese Embassy was repaired when the Japanese crown prince visited Addis Ababa.

Eleven years ago, the emperor became interested in building a university. He laid the cornerstone for the school and construction began. The gate was finished, but nothing else.

The emperor has taken an active personal interest in education. But after he has governed the country for 43 years, there still is only one Ethiopian with a medical degree in all the country. There is scarcely a native engineer, architect, or agricultural expert in Ethiopia. The population is almost 95 per cent illiterate.

Orville Young Chairman For Brooklyn Troop

Thursday night in the Brooklyn Methodist church, Orville Young was selected as Troop Committee chairman for Boy Scout Troop 106, at the troop's annual Chartering meeting and Board of Review. Mr. Young is the church school superintendent and church treasurer of the Brooklyn Methodist church, and is completing his second year as a member of the troop committee. He has served as advancement chairman of the troop during the past year, and has seen advancement of 71% of the boys enrolled. This compares with the goal of 40%, set by the National Council. Every boy reregistering is a first class scout or above, which is a very unusual record.

Other committee members, and their responsibilities are: Dale Wooldridge, who represents the Brooklyn Methodist church on the district and troop program as the Institutional Representative; Dale Belcher, advancement chairman; Clayton Stephenson, finance; Oren Mallicoat, outdoor program; Rev. Clarence Bigler, chaplain and publicity; Ralph Mitchell, equipment; J. Wayne Chambers, membership and re-registration; Wayne Devoy, training.

John Seymour will serve as Scoutmaster and James Foster as assistant during the new year. Mr. Foster has been the Scoutmaster, with Mr. Seymour as assistant during the past year which has seen the best program in the troop for a number of years. In addition to the excellent advancement record, there also has been an outstanding camping record, with 91% of those re-registering having participated in the recommended number of days camping or more.

The troop is sponsored by the Brooklyn Methodist church, and the relationship between the troop and the sponsoring institute has been excellent. 64% of the members of the troop committee are members of the official board of the church. Membership in the troop, however, is open to any boy, of any denomination, who is interested in the Scouting program. The parents of any boy interested in Scouting should contact the Scoutmaster or his assistant, or any of the commitee members as listed.

Greene County Gives $935 To CROP Appeal

CARROLLTON—Greene county contributed the total sum of $935.54 to the Christian Rural Overseas program according to an announcement made Jan. 12 by Elvin D. Frantz, CROP director of the Illinois Council of Churches in Springfield.

Frantz further stated that the response to the CROP appeal over the state of Illinois was good this year and a total of 41 carloads of corn were shipped and the total amount of contributions came to approximately $165,000. Translated into corn this amount would exceed the two hundred thousand bushels or nearly enough for the state goal. Only 31 cars of corn were shipped last year. The top county in giving in the state was McLean with Ogle county as second.

The food and money collected by CROP is made available to Church World Service and other church agencies who are helping to feed the refugees in the Congo, the Middle East, Hong Kong, and in many other areas of our world. Those who have given to CROP share in the thrill of helping to use the abundance from America to help build friendship and understanding in areas of tension.

Mansfield Emerges As One Of Most Powerful Figures In New 87th Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — A one-time copper mine mucker, son of poor Irish immigrant parents, a runaway from home at the age of 14 to serve in the U.S. Army, Navy and Marines, is now emerging as one of the most powerful figures in the new 87th Congress.

That in brief is the success story of Montana's quiet voiced pipe smoking Sen. Michael J. Mike) Mansfield.

With his election as Senate majority leader, Mansfield will bear prime responsibility for driving the incoming Kennedy administration's "new frontier" legislation through the Senate.

It's a ticklish spot, for two reasons:

1. The razor's-edge margin of victory by John F. Kennedy over Richard M. Nixon may stack up as something less than an all-out mandate for any ultra-liberal legislation.

2. A traditional coalition of conservative Republicans and Southern Democrats appears ready to team up against some of the broad spending proposals advocated by Kennedy during the election campaign.

But Mansfield is at least mildly optimistic over the chances of enacting a fair chunk of Kennedy's campaign promises.

There has been speculation on the extent to which the restless and dynamic Lyndon B. Johnson would turn over the reins of Senate power. Perhaps a clue came when Mansfield announced immediately after his election as majority leader he wants Johnson to preside at Senate Democratic caucuses.

Mansfield, like President-elect Kennedy, is a Roman Catholic.

Born March 16, 1903, in New York City, the son of poverty-stricken parents—his father was a New York hotel porter—Mansfield left home and fibbing about his age joined the Navy in February 1918 and served 10 months overseas. Then, at 15, he enlisted in the Army, and a year later, still in quest of adventure, he joined the Marines for a two-year hitch in the Philippines and China.

Back in civvies, young Mike Mansfield worked as a "mucker"—the wet, bruising job of clearing away fallen rock and debris—2,800 feet down in the labryinth of mine tunnels under Butte, Mont. He toiled in the copper mines from 1922 to 1930, meanwhile using his hard-earned dollars to pay his way through the Montana School of Mines.

He also had to finish high school at the same time to qualify for his college degree, getting his diploma three months before his bachelor's degree. He later married his high school teacher.

Next came four penny-pinching years at Montana State University. Upon graduation, he remained on the campus as professor of Latin American and Far East history until elected to his first term in Congress in 1943.

He won five consecutive two-year terms in the House, successfully bucked the Eisenhower landslide to capture a Senate seat in 1952, and was a shoo-in for a second six-year Senate term in 1958.

Now 57, Mansfield has made his legislative reputation chiefly in the field of foreign affairs. He has been an arch critic, calm but consistent, of the Eisenhower administration's foreign policies for most of the last eight years.

A prolific speaker, with his craggy, wry-humored face often seen on news-type TV programs, Mansfield paradoxically has scolded his fellow lawmakers for their utterances on global affairs while himself belaboring the GOP administration on the same subject.

"Many of us in Congress talk too much and cut the ground from under the regularly constituted authority whose duty it is to carry out the foreign policy of the United States," he said.

But later, in a globe-ranging speech, he devoted 12,000 words to a blast at what he called the Eisenhower administration's "fear-laden inflation of the Soviet threat."

Despite his four-year apprenticeship as party whip, Mansfield takes over the floor leadership with some misgivings. He has, in fact, been termed "too nice a guy for the job — the majority leader has got to be tough and a little mean."

Mansfield himself puts it this way: "Actually the leadership is a headache. You can't please everyone. Every senator is a prima donna in some way. It's a miracle that we can achieve any harmony in the Democratic party because we cover the whole political spectrum."

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

The incoming Kennedy administration has a far better idea of what its problems are going to be and what can be done about them than did the Democrats who returned to power in 1932.

Franklin D. Roosevelt knew about the depression and took some early steps, but the major book of economic knowledge, what causes recessions and what to do about them, has been written since then. It incorporates many things which had to be learned at that time through experiment. The book is still incomplete, but of vastly greater aid now.

Insofar as the world is concerned, mighty little was known in the United States. While Roosevelt was experimenting here, Hitler and Mussolini were experimenting in Europe.

The foreword was being written for the book of unbridled totalitarian aggression, against the background of world depression of which the United States recognized hardly more than her own part. President Hoover's secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson, had seen the stagehands of war working behind the scenes, but others had not.

Britain and France, which usually acted as the feelers for American foreign policy, had their perceptions dulled by trouble at home, too.

Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull were not worried about war in those days.

Now John F. Kennedy and Dean Rusk know about the dangers of the world—a world involved in a new kind of economic war and threatened by a new kind of military war.

Whatever economic problems may develop at home cannot be handled solely on their face. The economic and financial integrity of the United States is too much involved in the new kind of war.

In this war, every weakness which develops at home will be advertised by the enemy as a weakness of method and of ideology.

For instance, India and China are competing for ascendency of their systems in Asia. Developments in the United States will be used as measures for the Indian idea of preserving free enterprise alongside the Socialist development of industry, agriculture and business by government.

In the '30s a few of the things done by the United States, such as restricting the ownership and sale of gold and the beginning of the most-favored-nation trade program, affected the world. In the '60s, every social and economic development broadcasts its reverberations.

In Era Of War Threats

weapons, and supported the war-like threats of the Red Chinese—a period in which this country was fighting a war in Korea and there was grave danger it would spread.

This government showed the understanding, firmness and willingness to take risks in support of policies which prevented the great war from coming, the President said.

Had there been weakness in that time, Eisenhower continued, he is convinced there would have been a war that would have been disastrous to all the earth.

• • •

After this grave speech — The longest of the news conference—Eisenhower suddenly grinned and said that Nov. 8 was another great disappointment.

Apart from this rueful comment, and despite the many prodding questions, Eisenhower declined to give his version of what went wrong in the presidential election which cost the Republican party control of the White House.

But his comments were not completely free from political implications as he gave these replies to the cross-fire of questions:

• • •

THE FUTURE — The greatest problem facing President-elect John F. Kennedy when he takes office Friday will be that of dealing with the intransigent and unreasonable attitude of the Communist powers.

The basic difficulty will be in keeping this country strong and firm, and yet conciliatory, in trying to meet the Soviet attitude, Eisenhower said.

ECONOMIC POLICY — The President slapped at the proposal of Kennedy's economic task force that federal spending be boosted by $3 billion to $5 billion to combat recession and unemployment.

Eisenhower said he is no economic prophet, but he believes the economy will be swinging upward gradually but steadily, and will provide more government revenues than it is now generating.

Public works and other spending programs generally don't take effect until 18 months after they are started—by which time the boom usually has begun again, Eisenhower said. But the billions of dollars spent, seem to stay forever in the public debt, he added.

• • •

The news conference was the 193rd held by Eisenhower, in Washington; Gettysburg, Pa.; Augusta, Ga., and elsewhere. The last one in Washington was on Sept. 7, although he met reporters in Augusta on Nov. 16 to announce government moves to curb the balance-of-payments deficit.

The President looked hale and fresh. He smiled frequently, but occasionally gave tart answers to questions which might have been answered sentimentally if he had chosen to do so.

He dealt almost brusquely with a question as to whether he felt his own participation in the presidential campaign had been vigorous enough and had started early enough, and whether he felt the "great debates" damaged the cause of the Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower said his advice was not asked on the debates, and that as for his own campaign efforts, he carried out the exact schedule asked of him by the campaign committee.

• • •

Eisenhower said he would be pleased if congressional efforts were successful to restore to him the rank of five-star general which he resigned when he became president.

This would be merely a title without extra pay in addition to his presidential pension, Eisenhower said, but it would give him a title of his own and would be satisfying in view of his 40 years of military service.

Eisenhower chuckled when queried whether he had arrived at a final decision on whether he approves of the Constitutional Amendment limiting a president to two terms in office.

It's a funny thing, he observed, that ever since the election Republicans have been asking him the same question.

He said he had been inclined to dislike the third-term prohibition at first, but recognizes that without it the danger always would exist of perpetuating a dynasty in the White House. On balance, he said, he now believes that the limitation is a pretty good thing.

McNamara Finances Hit Snag

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense-designate Robert S. McNamara, who sold his Ford stock in a move to allay fears, discovered the fears persist — among the senators who must approve him.

Their concern focused on the problem of conflict of interest. While the Senate Armed Services Committee had no question about McNamara's sale of $1.5 million worth of Ford Motor Co. stock, two members questioned him closely Tuesday about what he is going to do with the money.

McNamara has put the total—$1.1 million after taxes—into government bonds. He then plans to convert the bonds into a trust fund. Trustees would invest the money without consulting him.

"It's not my purpose to be harsh," Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said to McNamara. But, Byrd said, the trust fund presented the same problem as the Ford stock—for the fund trustees might invest money in companies that did business with the Defense Department, just as the Ford Motor Co. might do business with the department.

Byrd said the trust fund thus might violate the conflict of interest law, which was passed in 1873.

"I will be quite happy to modify the agreement any way you suggest," McNamara told Byrd and the other members of the committee. The 44-year-old former president of the Ford Motor Co. suggested that his lawyers could sit down with lawyers of Congress and work out a satisfactory trust fund.

The chairman, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., told McNamara the committee had not decided yet if that was necessary. Russell added that, in any case, the committee could not act on McNamara until it formally received his nomination from President-elect John F. Kennedy. The formal nomination is expected after the inauguration Friday.

The discussion on conflict of interest recalled a similar situation in 1952 when President Eisenhower nominated Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors, as secretary of defense.

In fact, there was some debate at the hearing Tuesday over whether the committee was asking McNamara to do more than Wilson had done.

Under pressure from the committee, Wilson sold his $2.5 million worth of General Motors stock before receiving Senate confirmation.

"It is true," Russell said today, "we forced Mr. Wilson to divest himself—rather, we invited him to." The chairman's pause and change of phrase evoked laughter from his fellow senators.

Benson Says Past 8 Years Have Been Good

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ezra Taft Benson told his 78th and final news conference as secretary of agriculture Tuesday that he believes the Eisenhower administration made a good record in regard to agriculture.

"Of course, it is not as good as I wish it could have been," he said. "It could have been better if we had gotten more of the legislation we requested. But nevertheless, I feel very good about the last eight years."

Benson, one of the most controversial figures of the Eisenhower administration, said:

"It has always been this administration's position that the management of our farms and ranches is best left in the hands of farmers and ranchers themselves. Local, state and federal governments can and should provide sound help but farmers must be free to control their own operations and permit price to play its traditional role in directing production and consumption."

This position is somewhat in contrast with promises made by President-elect John F. Kennedy. During the campaign, Kennedy outlined a future farm program embracing intensified government action in the fields of farm controls and price supports.

Benson told newsmen he nevertheless hoped success for his successor, Orville L. Freeman.

Benson listed these facts:

Four-fifths of agriculture is free of government production controls and only five of some 250 commodities produced commercially are still subject to such controls.

Fifteen of the 21 commodities under price supports are selling at, or above, their support levels.

Only 12 commodities are currently in government surplus inventory. Ten items in inventory in 1953 are no longer in government storage.

Benson said, "Much more needs to be done to improve farm income stability and assist marginal-area farm families, but this administration has, with the help of Congress, charted a course that spells a bright future for American agriculture."

Ex-Convict Gives Lurid Details Of Rape-Slaying

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A Texas ex-convict Tuesday admitted luring a frail 6-year-old heart patient from her home, raping her then strangling her. He said his pregnant wife helped, and at one point struck the child on the head with a tire wrench. The wife denied it.

Richard Arlen Lindsey, $77-a-week farm worker and admitted mental case, cracked under endless hours of questioning after authorities told him they had found the body of blonde, blue-eyed Rose Marie Riddle.

They were led to the scene, a field some 60 miles north of this city in California's vast agricultural San Joaquin Valley, by the wife, Dixie Elaine Lindsey.

She broke down Monday night and told sheriff's deputies her husband abducted the girl last Thursday. She said Lindsey, 30, drove to the field, told his wife to leave the car, drove off with the girl, and returned without her. The car seat, she said, was covered with blood when he returned.

Lindsey, according to Dist. Atty. Kit Nelson, told this story:

He and his wife, 23, and pregnant with her fourth child, drove the girl to the field. Afterward, as the girl lay whimpering, the wife came over and struck her with the wrench, killing her.

Nelson said Mrs. Lindsey denied this, claiming the couple argued in the car, that Lindsey struck her and forced her out, and went into the field without her.

After a preliminary examination of the body, a coroner said the child had been sexually molested. There were 19 gashes on her head and face, he reported.

Coroner Stan Newman, who led a nine-man search party for hours through fog-shrouded fields, found the body about 9 a.m. lying face down 50 feet from a dirt road. He said there was blood on the head and clothing, but the body was fully clothed. Three feet away lay a pair of pink ballernia shoes. Twenty feet away was the bloody tire wrench.

The Lindseys were arraigned together on charges of kidnap and murder and their preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 1.

Rose Marie, victim of a heart condition since birth, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Riddle, migrant workers of nearby Shafter.

Steel Problem Probers Advise Nation To Relax

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government task force assigned to study the steel industry's labor troubles came up today with one word of advice to the nation—relax.

The whole problem and its effects on the national economy are highly exaggerated, according to the surprising findings submitted by a staff headed by Prof. E. Robert Livernash of the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Here are some of the task force's conclusions:

1. Actual adverse effects of steel strikes have not been of serious magnitude.

2. Neither have steel wage or price changes been serious in terms of the over-all economy, or in influencing other price and wage levels.

3. Little can be gained from changing the labor laws for dealing with national emergency strikes. Existing economic pressures are more effective persuaders. If the government has to get into a steel dispute, it should be on an informal basis at "truly critical stages."

4. Serious consideration should be given to advance arrangements so that in any future steel strike a few mills would be operated to insure enough steel for national defense needs.

The quicker everybody realizes how the steel labor problem has been exaggerated in the public mind, the study suggests, less attention will be paid the periodic steel labor bargaining, and probably fewer strikes will ensue.

Dirksen Seeks $1 Billion For School Building

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois proposed Tuesday a four-year, $1 billion federal aid program for school classroom construction.

Dirksen said in a statement his measure would provide for federal-state matching of funds on a ratio that the number of children under the age of 14 in each state bears to the total number of children of that age in the United States.

Left out of Dirksen's measure was any provision for the payment of teachers' salaries, a section written into an aid-to-education bill passed by the Senate in the last Congress but pigeonholed in the House.

Explaining his bill, Dirksen referred to statements made in last year's campaign by President-elect John F. Kennedy.

"In the months immediately preceding the election of last November, we heard a great deal about the need for sacrifice—giving up pleasures and frills which we enjoy today to earnestly prepare ourselves for tomorrow," Dirksen said.

"I have taken that as my text in presenting a bill to authorize federal financial assistance for education. It is a simple bill and it will require sacrifice.

"The bill limits federal financial assistance to the construction of classrooms. Where a part of the burden of education in a local community is to be borne by all of the citizens of this country, it seems only fair that the emphasis should be placed on reading, writing, arithmetic, science and history, which are the basic elements of an education, rather than the frills of an education, however desirable these frills may be."

Tells Plan For Friendship With Latin America

NEW YORK (AP)— President-elect John F. Kennedy took a major step today to improve relations between Latin America and the United States through use of Puerto Rico as a goodwill clearing house.

Kennedy announced a plan after a conference at the Hotel Carlyle here with Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico.

"Gov. Munoz and I have agreed to take measures to expand the availability of Puerto Rico's facilities for a meeting place and workshop where we in the United States and our neighbors in Latin America may learn more about our mutual problems and the possibilities for the great achievements that we can attain by working together," Kennedy said.

Kennedy's meeting with the Puerto Rico governor was one of a series of activities that kept him busy during the one-day, preinaugural visit to New York.

The activities included a visit by his tailor, Sam Harris, to give the president-elect a final fitting of his inauguration wardrobe.

GRAINS SLUMP IN DRAGGY DEALINGS

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices slanted generally toward weakness today in mostly draggy dealings on the Board of Trade.

Soybeans continued active, however, with fairly heavy profit taking knocking all old crop months down well over two cents a bushel. In the first two days this week, those deliveries had gains amount to nine cents or more so the profit liquidation was expected.

Dealers said it appeared to be strictly a trading market with little or no commercial factors influencing trade either way.

Rye and old crop wheat also slipped about a cent.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.10 to 228.40, with industrials up 1.40, rails up 1.60 and utilities unchanged.

The advance more than wiped out Tuesday's mild "correction" of the 1961 rally.

Chemicals, steels, some autos and nonferrous metals joined in the rise. Rubbers were off. Farm implements were mixed. Electrical equipments eased.

While there was nothing outstanding in the news, brokers said the market may be anticipating once again bullish news emanating from the Kennedy administration when it takes office this week.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 3.39 to 632.25.

Corporate and U.S. government bonds advanced.

Calls Newspaper Marketplace for Goods And Ideas

CHICAGO (AP) — An advertising executive Wednesday described the American newspaper as "the market place for goods and the market place for ideas."

That description came from H. James Gediman, executive vice president of Hearst Advertising Service, Inc. He spoke at the closing session of the meeting of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

Gediman listed a number of reasons for what he called the resurgence of newspapers.

For one thing, he said, manufacturers need "something solid instead of speculative — especially when times get tough."

For another, he added, newspapers offer a "consistency and dependability of performance when consistently used."

Newspapers, he said, form a medium "in which people and product are brought together in a receptive environment."

He also reported that creative men in advertising "are rediscovering the power of newspapers when used with adequacy and skill."

But Gediman said the most important reason for the rise of newspapers in advertising is the role played by the free newspaper in a democracy.

He said extensive information distributed by a free press to a free people is necessary to maintain what he termed "ideological competence."

"In the American newspaper we are given the market place for goods and the market place for ideas," he said.

"Thus, to a degree no other nation can boast, we have the instrument through which the concurrent and reciprocally reinforcing blessings of economic freedom and political freedom can be carried into the communities, into the homes, and into the very lives of our people. "This is the mightiest armament in the arsenal of democracy."

Looked Like Hell Says Observer Of Train Wreck

MAGNOLIA, Miss. (AP) — "I couldn't see nothing but fire, screaming and blazes. It looked like hell."

R. L. Williams, a painter in this south Mississippi town of 2,200, described the scene of six deaths Tuesday when the crack streamliner "City of New Orleans" slammed into a gasoline truck at a downtown crossing at 80 m.p.h.

Dead were Engineer J. A. (Jimmy) Livingston, 44, of McComb, Miss.; fireman John Collins, 42, of Jackson Miss.; truck driver Morris Piggott, 48, of near McComb; Bobby Gwin, 28, of Magnolia, who worked in the freight yards; and two Magnolia Negroes who were unloading grain from freight cars, Hancey Johns, 40, and Charles Hughes, 38.

Magnolia is not even a flag stop for the train. An Illinois Central spokesman said speeds of 80 m.p.h. were not unusual when passing through small towns.

Although the nine-car passenger train's whistle was "blowing like hell," Williams said, the truck driver apparently didn't hear it and started slowly across the tracks.

"The train smashed into the truck and shot flames as high as the trees and spread the length of the train," he said.

Inside the train, passengers reported. "It was just a bump and a flash of light, just like they were putting on brakes."

The passengers didn't even have to leave the train, which was delayed about an hour before it headed for Chicago.

New Berlin Halts Pawnee's Victory String

Pretzels Snap Indians' Mark Of 13 Straight In 40th Win At Home, 65-54

NEW BERLIN — Coach Tony Dolenc's New Berlin Pretzels extended their winning string at home to 40 straight in handing highly-regarded Pawnee its first defeat of the campaign in 14 starts Tuesday night, 65-54.

The victory was New Berlin's fourth straight and its 10th against three setbacks. The winners hit 40 per cent from the field and bested the Indians by 10 field goals, 30-20. But the losers hit 14 of 23 free throw attempts to stay in contention while the Pretzels sank five of nine charity awards. Pawnee committed only nine fouls while New Berlin was charged with 16.

Balanced scoring was the difference in New Berlin's margin at each stopping point of the contest as Carl Compardo registered 19 points and Ed Harney picked up 16. Two others, Reiss and F. Compardo, were also in the double figures with 10 apiece.

New Berlin clung to three point leads after the first and second quarters but made its spurt in the second half and led by nine after three periods, 48-39, and maintained the spread in the fourth canto.

Meredosia Connects On 14 Of 19 Shots In 2nd Half To Beat ISD

By STAN SPOTTS

The Meredosia-Chambersburg High Indians combined a fast break along with a potent outshooting attack in the second half to hand the Illinois School for Deaf Tigers their 10th setback in as many starts Tuesday night in a PMSC Conference ball game, 55-38. The victory was the Indians' fifth against eight losses.

Meredosia, relying strongly on a 2-1-2 zone defense and waiting till a good shot presented itself, tore the cords apart by hitting on 14 of 19 shots in the second half to insure the victory.

After ISD's Bobby Poncar pulled the Tigers within seven points of the Meredosia lead at the start of the third canto, 22-16, the Indians hit four of five shots to take a commanding 18 point margin and the Tigers were never in the running again although they closed the deficit to eight points, 34-26, at the midway point. Three of the four buckets during the telling point came via the Jerry Bradley touch with Clarence Hanel accounting for the other. The winners connected on nine of 11 shots in the deciding quarter and led by 15 after 24 minutes of play, 49-28.

Coach Jim Torricelli's quintet maintained a 12-15 point advantage in the final stanza until Gary Raush, who did a fine job under the boards, increased the margin to 17 with less than three minutes to play. The biggest margin separating the two clubs came on a Hannel bucket in the final minute of play, 55-36, a 19-point difference.

Illinois Deaf got off to a poor showing and collected its only four points of the first quarter in the opening 2:58 of play. Bobby Poncar, who missed four straight free throws and a total of nine the first half, failed to get the Tigers in front of Meredosia's four points, all free throws, and the Indians broke a 4-4 deadlock via its first field goal of the quarter on a layup by Raush, six minutes and one second after the opening tip.

The Tigers, going scoreless the final 5:02 of the first quarter, extended their scoreless string to 2:43 before breaking the ice with 5:17 remaining in the second period. Of the total 16 minutes played in the first half, ISD was 7:45 without a point. Meredosia led anywhere from 9-13 points the rest of the way until Illinois Deaf trimmed the count to nine points at halftime, 23-14.

Gary Raush led the winners with 19 points. Bobby Poncar also tossed in 19 for the losers.

Meredosia hit 10 of 25 shots for the first half and wound up the game with a torrid 50 per cent, 22 of 44 attempts. ISD made six of 19 the first half and 16 of 35 for the game.

Purdue's Hopes Fade--Top Man Cuts Finger

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's hopes of knocking Iowa out of the Big Ten basketball lead suffered a blow Tuesday when the Boilermakers' top scorer, Terry Dischinger, cut a finger while working in a chemistry lab.

Dischinger was cleaning up at the end of a lab session when he cut the middle finger of his right hand on a piece of glass equipment that broke in his hand. It took five stitches to close the wound.

The 6-foot-7 Olympian appeared in this afternoon's drill but his workout was limited to running and defensive maneuvers.

Coach Ray Eddy said the cut may handicap Dischinger in Saturday night's game here with Iowa, but there was some hope most of the stitches could be removed by Friday.

Mayor Says N.Y. Will Be Ready With New Park

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Wagner said Tuesday there is no doubt that New York will have a new 55,000-seat stadium in Flushing Meadow Park in time for the new National League team in 1962.

The mayor's optimism was not reflected, however, by Lawrence Gerosa, comptroller. Gerosa said he still has reservations on financial details and observed that if construction had started last fall "they would have had to work overtime to finish it in time for the 1962 season."

It has been estimated that the actual construction cost will be $15 million and that architectural and engineering costs will add $1.2 million.

Charnley Wins Over Gresham

LONDON (AP) — Dave Charnley, European and British lightweight boxing champion, easily outpointed Gene Gresham of Detroit in 10 rounds before a crowd of 5,000 at the Streatham Ice Rink Tuesday night.

Charnley weighed 137½ and Greshmam 137¼.

Charnley, third ranked challenger for world champion Joe Brown's title, made sure of victory by sending Gresham to the canvas for a count of five in the last round with a right to the body followed by a left hook to the jaw.

Gresham, ranked seventh, came into the last round knowing he had to knock out Charnley to win.

The Associated Press gave Gresham, who had advantage in height and reach, the first and third rounds. The second and eighth rounds were even, and the remainder went to Charnley.

Gresham stepped in last Saturday as substitute for Frenchman Saveur Benamou, who was to have fought Charnley for his European title. Benamou's license was revoked in midweek. Tuesday night's fight was Charnley's first in eight months.

Underdog West Team Defeats East, 153-131

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Elgin Baylor hustled out of a sick bed and helped by Oscar Robertson, Bob Pettit and Clyde Lovellette led a first quarter drive Tuesday night that carried an underdog West team to a record-breaking 153-131 victory over the East in the National Basketball Association All-Star game.

A standing room crowd of 8,016 in War Memorial Auditorium saw Baylor, heeded with a fever earlier in the day, launch a furious early assault that buried the East with a steady succession of fast breaks resulting in easy baskets for the West. The West 153 points topped the previous mark of 130 set by the East in 1958.

In winning it's fourth of 11 All-Star games, the West scored a record 47 points in the first quarter, taking a 28-point lead and breaking the mark of 38 points set by the East two years ago.

Baylor, the Los Angeles star, sank a layup and a freethrow in the second minute, giving the West a 5-2 lead, and the East trailed the rest of the way. Baylor scored four more points in the next two minutes as the West ran up an 11-4 lead. Robertson, the ace rookie from Cincinnati, and veterans Pettit and Lovellette from the St. Louis Hawks, took up the attack that didn't give the favored East a chance. In the first quarter alone, Robertson scored 13 points, Pettit 9, Lovellette 8 and Baylor 7.

Wilt Chamberlain, league scoring leader of the Philadelphia Warriors, was so harrassed by Lovellette's glove - tight defense that he scored only 12 points, and was held without a field goal until the fourth quarter. He wound up with two field goals and eight free throws.

Pettit was the game's leading scorer with 29 points while Robertson, voted the most valuable player, had 23. Lovellette had 21. Baylor was withdrawn from the game after eight minutes and was used intermittently, winding up with 15 points.

Bill Russell of Boston, who did not enter the game until the second quarter, topped the East with 24 points. Dolph Schayes of Syracuse had 21.

Notre Dame Stuns DePaul

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Notre Dame's basketball Irish, almost invincible on their own floor, knocked off previously unbeaten DePaul's Blue Demons Tuesday night 61-58.

Racking up their 23rd straight home floor victory, the Irish won by dominating play under the boards.

The defeat of DePaul, ranked No. 7 nationally in the Associated Press poll, left Ohio State the only unbeaten major team in the country. DePaul had won 12 straight.

John Tully, 6-foot-7 Notre Dame senior, was the game's standout. He hit two quick field goals after DePaul tied the score at 42-42 with eight and a half minutes to play. He topped Irish scorers with 16 points and hauled down 14 rebounds.

The Irish led 20-27 at the half after DePaul had been in front briefly at 3-1 and 25-24. The Blue Demons never were in front in the last half. After they tied the score at 42-42, Notre Dame made the next eight points.

Howie Carl topped DePaul scorers with 16 points.

NBA Selects Chicago As Its Ninth Club

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — The National Basketball Association Tuesday added Chicago as its ninth club for 1961-62 and indicated Pittsburgh might become the 10th team. The owners also agreed to set up a player pension plan.

Final action on Pittsburgh was deferred until midnight (EST) to permit further telephone negotiations between Maurice Podoloff, league president, and John Harris, head of the Pittsburgh group. At least one third of the $200,000 franchise fee must be paid and the balance guaranteed by March 15.

In Pittsburgh, Harris said that all arrangements for the Pittsburgh franchise have been made, including the selection of Boston player Bill Sharman as coach. Harris said owner Walter Brown of the Boston Celtics had agreed to release Sharman.

"Los Angeles had tried to get Sharman but Brown wouldn't let him go," Harris said. "We are fortunate to get a man of his stature for Pittsburgh."

Harris said the $200,000 franchise fee had nothing to do with Tuesday's talks with Podoloff.

"There were some things brought up at the meeting which hadn't been mentioned before," Harris said. "These had to be straightened out before we could go ahead with final negotiations for membership."

Chicago was admitted at an afternoon session when the franchise fee requirement was met by Max Winter, Dave Tregar and Sam Karlov, all of Chicago.

The Chicago team will play its home games in the 12,000-seat Amphitheatre. In addition to getting the first draft choice, it will be permitted to select from the rosters of the eight current clubs. Each club will make four of its 11 men available. No more than one can be taken from one club.

Podoloff, who originally set a mid-afternoon deadline for the new clubs, gave Pittsburgh eight additional hours to make its final arrangements. He was to get word during Tuesday night's All-Star game.

No details of the player pension fund were announced. The league's committee will meet again Feb. 6 at New York with a pension fund expert.

WINCHESTER—Franklin, Winchester and Greenfield scored victories here Tuesday night in the opening round of the 39th annual Winchester Invitational basketball tournament.

Coach Jim Bower's Franklin Flashes nudged East Pike in the curtain raiser, 53-52, while Coach Jack Renfro's Wildcats scored their 14th straight victory with a 68-41 decision in the second game. Greenfield won easily in the nightcap, taking Roodhouse to the tune of 70-31.

Franklin meets Griggsville tonight via its close win over East Pike. The winners led at half but East Pike caught up at the three quarter mark, 41-41. The Flashes scored 12 points in the final quarter to eliminate the Panthers.

Bill Robinson collected 18 points in the first half to lead Winchester to an easy triumph. The Wildcat bench saw plenty of action the second half but Robinson's 16 points held up to take game scoring laurels.

Four players in the double figures paced Greenfield's 70-24 victory over Roodhouse in Tuesday's finale. Wilbert Wellhausen led all scorers with 19 points.

Duke Denies Leaving Valley

TULSA, Okla. (AP)— University of Tulsa Athletic Director Glenn Dobbs called "entirely untrue" Tuesday a published report his school might leave the Missouri Valley Conference unless the conference adds members emphasizing football.

A news story from Kansas City, not carried by The Associated Press, predicted the conference is in for a shakeup in the spring.

It said the league could expect to lose Tulsa and North Texas State unless it expands with two or three schools where football is a major sport. If such schools are added, the story said the conference probably would lose Cincinnati and St. Louis.

Other conference schools are Drake, Bradley and Wichita. Drake and Bradley play football but do not compete for the championship. St. Louis has no football. All seven schools vie for the basketball title.

Lane Doesn't Plan Wholesale Trading Of Established Stars

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Trader Frank Lane, the Kansas City Athletics' new general manager, says he doesn't plan wholesale trading of established major leaguers on the A's roster.

He still has his interest in making trades but hopes to give up only fringe players.

"We could make a lot of deals right now in which we could give up an established player and get several fringe players," Lane told a newsman. "But we have too many players of that type already.

"What I want to do is take two fringe players and get one fairly adequate player who has a chance of playing regularly for us.

"I talked with Bill Veeck last Sunday when I was in Chicago for the writers' dinner but we didn't get anywhere. You know Bill. He'd give you a biscuit for a barrel of flour."

Lane said Veeck was willing to give pitcher Turk Lown and infielder Sam Esposito of the White Sox for the A's second baseman, Jerry Lumpe, but that he wasn't interested.

Lane said the White Sox would also like to have outfielder Russ Snyder "but they just don't want to offer anything."

Lane also talked with Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

"They're looking for an outfielder," Lane said. "They offered us players like Clint Courtney and Gordon Jones. I didn't mention any front line players to him either. Lee didn't even ask about outfielder Bill Tuttle, although I know they'd like to have him."

Victory Without War –

Khrushchev's Blueprint For World Communism

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev says the world Communist movement fully supports wars of national liberation.

The Soviet leader in a 20,000-word speech published Tuesday in the magazine Kommunist called such conflicts a third class of war as distinguished from total thermonuclear and limited "brush fire" wars.

Khrushchev declared that war is not necessary for a victory by world communism, which he said "is not far off."

But he warned in his speech, a report delivered Jan. 6 to a general meeting of party organizations in Moscow, that war will come if capitalist nations try to resist communism's victory — a victory he said is "inevitable by the laws of historical development."

In Washington, the State Department declined to comment on Khrushchev's speech until it has studied the full text.

Khrushchev cited the present Algerian conflict as an example of the third class of war.

Khrushchev said of Algeria: "It is a sacred war. We recognize such wars. We have helped and shall go on helping people fighting for their freedom."

As another example he mentioned the revolution in Cuba and said that "led by Fidel Castro the people of Cuba won." Khrushchev noted that the United States "did not directly intervene in that war."

His samples of the second class of war, local war which might develop into big ones, were the Indochina fighting of 1953-54 and British-French action in Suez in 1956. He made no mention of the fighting in Laos.

He said it was to communism's advantage to avoid annihilating thermonuclear and "brush fire" wars.

Khrushchev also declared the Soviet Union was sincerely for disarmament which he called "the most important factor in preventing war," and also an important factor in the fight against imperialism.

The Soviet premier saw a fertile field for communism in the awakening of the nations of Asia, Africa and Latin America which he said was second only to the emergence of the world socialist system in historic impact.

He predicted that "fascist dungeons in the Union of South Africa will crumble to dust. Rhodesia, Uganda and other parts of Africa will be free."

"The working class, which today governs a vast area of the world and in time will rule the whole world," Khrushchev said, "cannot allow the doomed forces (imperialism) to drag hundreds of millions of people into the grave with them."

One of the means for preventing a new war is the development of "peace fronts" throughout the world, including pacifists of all political beliefs, he said.

Another is the policy of peaceful coexistence.

He said the policy of peaceful coexistence "facilitates the activities of the Communist party and other progressive organizations of the working class in the capitalist countries, makes it easier for the peoples to combat aggressive war blocs and foreign military bases and contribute to the success of the national liberation movement.

"The policy of peaceful coexistence is thus, so far as its social content is concerned, a form of intense economic, political and ideological struggle between the proletariat and the aggressive forces of imperialism in the world arena."

He then went on to say that the Communist party of the Soviet Union and the Soviet government will continue to do everything "to increase the military might of our country since the imperialists are continuing the arms race."

He claimed that "the imperialists have in recent times failed to draw a single new state into their military bloc."

"Thanks to the fact that the Socialist countries pursue a correct policy, a policy of active struggle against the imperialist warmongers, the prestige of the Soviet Union and the other Socialist countries is now higher than ever," he declared.

"In recent years the initiative in the world arena has belonged to the Soviet Union and other Socialist countries, while the imperialist countries and other governments have had to keep on the defensive. Their prestige and international rating have dropped lower than ever."

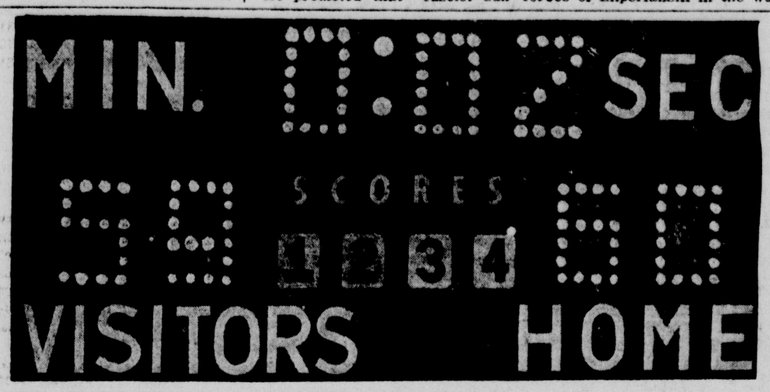

Khrushchev said that, of special importance for the promotion of peace in Europe, is "the struggle against renascent West German militarism."

"The Soviet Union is waging this struggle together with the German Democratic Republic, Poland, Czechoslovakia and other Socialist countries," he said.

"It is being waged along different lines, the most important of them being the struggle for a peace treaty. The initiative of the Socialist states in advancing a program for a peaceful settlement of the German question and the solution, on this basis, of the question of West Berlin, has done much to unmask the U.S.A., the Federal German Republic and the other NATO countries as opponents of a relaxation of tension.

"The position of the U.S.A., Britain and France has proved to be especially vulnerable in West Berlin. These powers still try to cling to the old positions but they cannot fail to realize that the occupation regime in that city will end sooner or later.

"It is necessary to continue, step by step, to bring aggressive-minded imperialists to their senses, to compel them to reckon with the real situation. And if they balk, we shall take resolute measures. We shall sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic, for we are fully determined to conclude a German peace treaty, at long last, in order to pull out the thorn that the occupation regime in West Berlin is."

Embezzled –

Good Samaritan $2 Million Short

SHELDON, Iowa (AP)—A $2-million embezzlement, which closed its oldest bank, and the arrest of one of its most prominent citizens, shocked this Iowa community Tuesday.

The shortage was discovered at the Sheldon National Bank, of which Burnice Iverson Geiger, 58, was assistant cashier and board member. Her father was the president.

A routine audit by federal bank examiners Monday night swiftly turned up the alleged shortages at the bank.

Then U.S. Dist. Atty. F. E. Van Alstine said at Sioux City that Mrs. Geiger admitted embezzling $2,126,859 — one of the largest amounts ever taken in banking history in this country.

William Crary, an assistant U.S. district attorney, said it had not been determined how she manipulated the embezzlement or how she spent the money. It apparently was taken over a long period of time, he said.

"She had a way of covering up," Van Alstine said. He declined to discuss the case further, pending the convening of a grand jury at Sioux City Jan. 30.

Mrs. Geiger waived hearing and was held for the grand jury when arraigned before U.S. Commissioner William Forker at Sioux City. Bond was set at $10,000. She did not immediately make bail.

After the shortage was discovered, the bank's directors voted to turn the institution over to federal authorities for liquidation.

Customers of the bank, which had deposits in excess of $2 million, were protected to a maximum of $10,000 for each depositor through the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., government officials said. Payment in full of insured deposits would begin in 10 days, the FDIC said.

Mrs. Geiger and her husband, Wallace, are members of prominent and long - time Sheldon families. Geiger operates a hardware store.

Her father, W. P. Iverson, 83, has been president of the bank for 45 years and was a druggist here.

"I'm all choked up," was all Iverson would say.

Although Mrs. and Mrs. Geiger had no children of their own, she had "many, many children," said Mrs. Don Parks. "All those she has helped and their children are her children," she added.

"It would take every page of an entire day's newspaper to print the good this woman has done," Mrs. Parks said. "She never took any credit or sought any praise."

The Rev. Thomas Lutman, her pastor at the First Congregational church and a friend for 20 years, said Mrs. Geiger "has always been a leader in giving to any good cause. She has the reputation all over the county of being a good samaritan."

Old Guard 'In Step' With 'New Frontier'

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "old guard" marched along the "new frontier" Tuesday in a test run — late starting, of course — of Friday's gigantic inaugural parade.

And the Inaugural Committee caved in to pressure and added two more sections to the inaugural ball.

This last switch set off a frenzied reshuffling of schedules.

The parade and ball are key events of the great day when John F. Kennedy puts his hand on a Bible, takes the oath as America's 35th president, and puts a new administration on the rail to what he calls the new frontiers of the 1960s.

The weatherman sounded cooperative about the big day. Generally fair and a little warmer is the outlook, but there's just a chance of some dampness.

The Inaugural Committee zealously papered the country with invitations to the inaugural ball and found itself entangled in the results of its own enthusiasm. Too many customers, even at $25 a ticket, for the space available.

So a ball which started out in the National Guard armor, expanded to the Sheraton Park Hotel, then the Mayflower, and now to the Statler Hilton and the Shoreham.

This should take care of an extra few thousand people who are eager to waltz, quaff champagne, and wait for the arrival of the new president and first lady and Vice President and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson togged out in formal finery for a dazzling event.

But the timetable is being rejiggered frantically because the committee that once promised the Kennedys and Johnsons would divide their time equally among three places now is faced with the problem of dividing their time five ways instead of three.

The dry run of the parade was dry, all right, and precise. It was just the first section, the presidential section of the parade, but without any of the principals, naturally. A "V" of motorcycle police started it off. The Army band took part. The massed presidential colors, and those of all the states, were borne majestically along the full 2¾-mile route.

And the Army's "old guard fife and drum corps" swung along, beating and tootling, in bright red continental uniforms.

Everything went off beautifully except the start was 15 minutes late, somewhat in keeping with a discernible tendency of the incoming president not to adhere to a too rigid schedule.

Still, Kennedy was only three minutes behind time taking off from his Southland retreat at Palm Beach, Fla., to fly north for a brief stop here and then go to New York. He had a date for a dinner-dance here Tuesday night which his sister, Mrs. Stephen Smith, is giving for the Broadway, Hollywood and TV stars who will provide the entertainment at a gala Thursday night. The gala is a Democratic party money - raising effort to try to blot up $3 million worth of campaign red ink.

Introduce Bills To Change Public Aid To Code Dept.

By ARTHUR L. SRB

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Bills to abolish the Illinois Public Aid Commission and set up a code department to administer aid programs were introduced in the Illinois Legislature Tuesday.

Sen. W. Russell Arrington, Evanston Republican and longtime critic of the IPAC, co-authored the bills with Sen. Marshall Korshak, Chicago Democrat.

The measures would create a department of public assistance to be managed by a director responsible to the governor. Arrington spearheaded an unsuccessful attempt to abolish the IPAC in the 1957 session.

The IPAC, presently administered by appointees who serve without pay, controls disbursement of a quarter of a billion dollars annually.

Arrington said he was confident the legislature would approve the bills because, "The soaring aid costs have reached a point where they must be curbed."

"The commission's appropriations have reached the half billion dollar mark during the present biennium, and indications are the commission will ask for $690 million," Arrington declared.

Korshak said the public aid costs "have reached a point of no return."

"You can't expect voluntary members of a commission, serving gratuitously and meeting once a month, to do an efficient job," he stated.

The IPAC supervises poor relief, old age and blind pensions, aid to dependent children, and disability assistance.

A bill, by Sen. Gordon Kerr, R-Brookport, appropriating more than $4 million for a mentally retarded school at Harrisburg, was filed in the Senate and ran into immediate opposition.

Sen. Dwight Friedrich, Centralia Republican, said he would not favor the bill unless he first received assurances that plans for construction of a state mental institution at Centralia would proceed on schedule.

Friedrich said he wanted to make certain that state funds would be available for the proposed 750-bed Centralia institution before voting for the Harrisburg hospital measures.

He said Centralia citizens raised $90,000 in subscriptions to purchase land for the hospital and construction of the institution was authorized by the 1959 legislature.

Harrisburg residents have raised $65,000 to purchase the site for their institution but expect the state to reimburse them if the institution is constructed.

Friedrich and Sen. Egbert B. Groen, Pekin Republican, led opposition which prevented the Harrisburg bill from bypassing a committee hearing.

A similar measure was offered in the House by Speaker Paul Powell and advanced to second reading despite opposition by Rep. William Pollack, Republican leader from Chicago.

Both the House and Senate will hold perfunctory meetings Wednesday, returning for a regular session Jan. 31.

HONORED TUESDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, the first man to regain the world heavyweight title, received the Edward J. Neil memorial plaque Tuesday night as "fighter of the year" at the 35th annual dinner of the Boxing Writers Association.

It was Patterson's second Neil award. He also won it in 1956 when he became the youngest heavyweight king in history. His feat of winning back the title by knocking out Ingemar Johansson last June 20 established him as the outstanding boxer of 1960.

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said the Soviet motor ship Andreyev reported by radio it was molested in the Arabian Sea Tuesday by the U.S. Navy destroyer Ingraham.

"The destroyer molested the Soviet vessel for 25 minutes, twice approaching to within one cable length," the broadcast said. "The crew of the Andreyev expresses its profound indignation at the actions of the warship."

Kerner Sends Names To Senate For Confirmation

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Gov. Otto Kerner submitted the names of nine Cabinet members Tuesday to the Illinois Senate for confirmation.

The appointments were referred to the executive committee for screening when the legislature returns for its next full session in two weeks.

Sen. Merritt Little, R-Aurora, was reappointed executive committee chairman and Sen. John Meyers, R-Danville, was named vice chairman.

To make sure the newly appointed department directors could assume their duties Tuesday, Kerner also named them on a temporary basis until they are confirmed.

The departments involved are personnel, safety, labor, finance, revenue, conservation, agriculture, insurance and welfare.

Joseph Ragen, new Safety Department director, announced appointment of three wardens and three assistant wardens of state penal institutions.

No change was made at Menard Prison, where Ross Randolph is warden.

As his successor as warden at Joliet-Stateville, Regan named Frank J. Pate, who has been assistant there the past six years.

All of the other appointees also are career men in the penal service.

They are: Joseph C. Vitek, 58, of Chicago, warden at Pontiac; Clayton King, 50, of Iroquois, warden at Vandalia; Homer Druin, 43, of Bloomington, assistant warden at Joliet; Paul G. Burris, 56, of Grantsburg, assistant warden at Stateville; Haskel D. Alvey, 36, of Harrisburg, assistant warden at Pontiac.

Eisenhower Farewell Prays For World Peace

Name Bill Elias Virginia's Head Football Coach

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP)—Bill Elias, the cocky young midwesterner who transformed George Washington from a football doormat to a winner in one year, was tapped Tuesday to try to do the same for the University of Virginia.

The official announcement of one of the past week's worst kept secrets was made by Dr. Edgar F. Shannon Jr., university president, at a meeting of the Virginia football squad.

George Washington several hours earlier had announced the resignation of Elias, named Southern Conference coach of the year last fall, to accept the post at Virginia, a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Elias was not offered the athletic directorship at Virginia, a job that will become vacant next year.

The university and Elias did not sign a formal contract, instead putting his tenure on a year-to-year basis as was the case during Frank Murray's nine years and most of Art Guepe's seven years as coach at Virginia.

Dr. Shannon made this point in his statement when he said that because the university feels Elias "can develop, lead and sustain a football program which is fitting for the university, his appointment is without a terminal date."

The 36-year-old Elias, a high school coach in Indiana and an assistant at Purdue before his one-year term at George Washington, inherits a team that has lost its last 28 games and tied the national major college record for consecutive defeats.

He succeeds Dick Voris, who resigned last month after the university board of visitors failed to give him a vote of confidence. Voris, whose contract had a year to run at the time he quit, won only one of 30 games in his three years of coaching the Cavaliers.

Elias was not a candidate for the Virginia job. A special nine-man committee named by the university to pick Voris' successor sought him out, offered him the post and he accepted it.

The university still is in the market for an athletic director to succeed Gus Tebell, who reaches retirement age next year.

Kills Family, Self With Deer Rifle In Mich.

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — A Grand Blanc man shot and killed his wife and four children Tuesday, then turned a deer rifle on himself.

Dead are Thomas Clark, 37, and his wife, Janet, also 37, and their four children, Carl, 12, Kathleen, 11, Karen, 10, and Kurt, 8.

The pajama-clad bodies of Mrs. Clark and the children were found in beds on he second floor of their two-story home here. Police said each had been shot once with a deer rifle.

Clark's body was found fully clothed in a downstairs bedroom. A deer rifle was beside him.

Police said the shootings apparently occurred sometime early in the morning. The bodies were discovered around 5 p.m.

Neighbors reported Clark, a supervisory employe at the Fisher body plan in Grand Blanc, had been despondent lately.

He recently had returned from Kansas City where he worked at another General Motors plant, police said.

Unemployment Benefits To Be Extended

CHICAGO (AP) — Starting Feb. 15, the length of time that Illinois unemployment benefits will be paid will be extended from 26 weeks up to 39 weeks.

This was announced Tuesday by Samuel C. Bernstein, state unemployment compensation commissioner who attributed the extension to the recession in business.

The normal period of payments is 26 weeks. The law provides for an automatic 50 per cent extension of benefits when the number collecting jobless benefits for a week or more exceeds 4.375 per cent of the total covered by the law for two consecutive months.

Bernstein said the percentage collecting benefits for a week or more Dec. 15 was 4.85.

MINERAL PRODUCTION ON UPSWING

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — India's mineral production the first half of 1960 was valued at $162.9 million, an increase of $15.9 million over the same 1959 period, the government says.

'Crises There Will Continue To Be'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said a last good night to the American people Tuesday night with a prayer for peace and prosperity for all and a warning that "crises there will continue to be."

The man who steps out of the White House three days from now, after half a century of service to the country, told his fellow countrymen he wished he could say that lasting peace is in sight.

"But," Eisenhower said, "so much remains to be done."

And the old soldier said it is with "a definite sense of disappointment" that he lays down his official responsibilities in the search for a disarmament he said is a continuing imperative.

It was in something of a mellow and reminiscent mood that Eisenhower spoke to the nation in a farewell radio-television address from his White House office.

But he also was in a mood to look into the days and years ahead.

And he told the people that America is pre-eminent today — "the strongest, the most influential and most productive nation in the world."

Perhaps with the spending plans of the new administration and promises of the Democratic platform in mind, Eisenhower said at one point that:

"As we peer into society's future, we—you and I, and our government—must avoid the impulse to live only for today, plundering, for our own ease and convenience, the precious resources of tomorrow."

"We cannot mortgage the material assets of our grandchildren without risking the loss also of their political and spiritual heritage," he said. "We want democracy to survive for all generations to come, not to become the insolvent phantom of tomorrow."

Eisenhower carried on business as usual as the time approached for his retirement to private life.

The day began with a typical round of appointments, conferences, ceremonial greetings and document signings, leading up to his radio-television speech.

Two more busy days were shaping up before the 70-year-old chief executive relinquishes his office on Friday noon to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Tuesday's schedule began at 8:45 a. m. when new ambassador of the republic of Ivory Coast, Konan Bedie, called to present his credentials.

Then came the ambassador of Japan, Koichiro Asakai, bringing with him a Japanese girl. The girl, Shigeko Kodera, 17, thanked Eisenhower for American aid during an outbreak of polio on the Japanese island of Hokkaido last year.

Next, the prime minister of Canada, John G. Diefenbaker, was ushered in for the signing of a treaty for U. S.-Canadian development of the Columbia River basin.

Diefenbaker stayed for lunch.

In between times, Eisenhower sent Congress a report on defense arrangements with North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations, nominated Harvey L. Jones to be postmaster at Tacoma, Wash., and asked Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to submit a recommendation to Congress that the sugar law be extended from March 31 through Dec. 31.

Highlighting Wednesday's program are a windup news conference at 10 a.m. and dispatching Eisenhower's third and last major 1961 message to the new Congress. This is the annual economic report which, like the budget and State of the Union message, are delivered at the opening of each session.

On Thursday, Eisenhower will hold his second and final reinauguration conference with his successor. This is set for 9 a.m. in the White House, and will be attended also by the outgoing and incoming secretaries of State, Treasury and Defense departments.

Friday morning has been left clear of appointments. At 11:20 a.m. the president - elect and Mrs. Kennedy will call to pick up the President and Mrs. Eisenhower for the ride down Pennsylvania Avenue to the oath taking ceremonies at the Capitol.

That will mark the end of one administration and the start of another. The Eisenhowers will then return to the White House; instead they will have luncheon at a downtown club and then motor to their farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

Xmas Parties, Fair Tickets A Bygone Era

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Legislative Audit Commission today called for an end to the practice of using state money to finance Christmas parties and buy State Fair tickets for state employes.

The commission adopted a resolution ordering Auditor-General Frank Whitney to advise new department directors that state law forbids using state funds for such purposes.

In the past, some directors have defended the practice on grounds that private companies did the same thing to help boost employe morale.

Sen. Robert Cherry, D-Chicago, said "When we appropriate money for state agencies we don't intend that the employes should be given passes to the fair."

In other action, the commission endorsed legislation to place Illinois' four Appellate Court clerks on salaries rather than fees. The clerks hold office in Chicago, Ottawa, Springfield and Mount Vernon.

Republicans Censure Four Party Rebels

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois House Republicans Tuesday censured four of their party colleagues for helping Democrat Paul Powell to be elected speaker.

To carry out the censure, GOP leaders said the four accused renegades would not be recommended for committee memberships—a move expected to prove futile.

Powell declared he would not keep the four Republicans off committees and intended to assign them on the basis of their seniority in the House.

The four who drew the anger of fellow Republican legislators over the bitter speakership fight are Reps. Walter McAvoy, Peter Miller, August Ruf and Michael Zlatnik, all of Chicago.

Pollack conceded that his loss to Powell for the speaker's post relegated the Republicans to minority party in the House, even though they hold a numerical 89-88 majority.

McAvoy, who has been criticized harshly for voting with Democrats in electing Powell, defended his position in a speech to the House after the caucus.

He said legislators are responsible for good government "regardless of party affiliation."

McAvoy reminded Republicans that two years ago they joined with downstate Democrats to put Powell in the speaker's chair and then were "singing Powell's praises."

Miller and Ruf, reporting they were ill, did not attend key House sessions the opening day of the legislature and Zlatnik refused to support Pollack for speaker.

Zlatnick told the House that, "I'm a Republican and will always remain a Republican, and no one can rightfully allege I gave comfort to the opposition."

Zlatnik told newsmen earlier he declined to back Pollack because Pollack tried to defeat him for re-election. Zlatnik said Pollack "promised six jobs to one woman if she would work for my Republican opponent."

Ruf, Miller and McAvoy hold jobs with the Democratic-controlled Chicago Sanitary District. Republican legislators have charged the three were pressured into not sticking with their party.

Miller was the only one of the censured legislators who did not attend Tuesday's caucus.

Some Republicans warned the caucus to go slow on disciplinary measures, saying all it might do is sap GOP strength in the House.

A voice vote adopted the censure action but there were some dissenting voices heard.

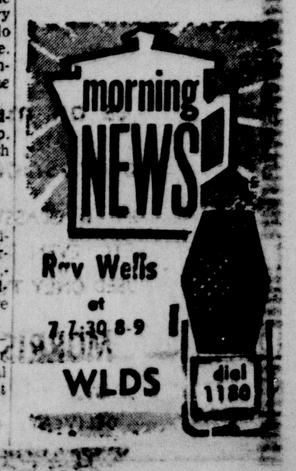

Pollack, as House minority leader, announced selection of Rep. William McLoskey of Monmouth as minority whip.

GRAIN CATTLE REACHES RECORD HIGH

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois cattle on grain feed for market reached a record high of 729,000 head on Jan. 1, the State-Federal Departments of Agriculture said Tuesday.

A record number of steers — 576,000 head—accounted for 79 per cent of the cattle on feed. Total cattle on feed was up six per cent from Jan. 1 of last year.

William Walton Close Friend, Adviser Of Pres. Elect Kennedy

By PAT MUNROE
Staff Writer, Chicago's American

WASHINGTON—You may have seen recent news stories about William Walton of Jacksonville, Ill., artist friend of President Elect Kennedy and his wife.

They are a long way from telling the story of a remarkable man.

Walton, 51, is a close friend of the Kennedys, the only one outside the family invited to their home for Thanksgiving day dinner in 1960.

No Official Position

He holds no official position in the new administration and wants none. But his advice is sought by Kennedy on a variety of matters.

During the recent hectic weeks when Kennedy was selecting his cabinet and other top advisers, Walton was a frequent visitor at the President elect's Georgetown (Washington) home.

In the West Virginia primary which gave Kennedy such a boost on his road to the Presidential nomination, Walton was his manager in five key cities.

Campaign Coordinator

In the last three months before the election, Walton was Kennedy's coordinator in New York City.

When the inaugural parade rolls down Pennsylvania avenue Friday, riding in the lead car will be Walton, deputy grand marshal. With him will be the grand marshal, Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin.

The two have an old association. As a war correspondent for Time magazine, Walton parachuted into Normandy six hours ahead of the ground invasion on D-Day, June 6, 1944. Gavin, who commanded the 82nd Airborne division, was the first one out of the plane. Walton wasn't far behind.

Later, Walton was attached to Gen. Omar Bradley's 1st army and stayed with it to the crossing of the Elbe river in Germany.

Home Like Kennedys

A muscular, craggy-faced man with sandy hair, Walton lives in a $70,000 red brick home in Georgetown.

It is the same size and type as the home of the Kennedys. Walton said:

"Jack and his sister Eunice used to share a house not far from mine. I got to know him well then. We used to play touch football in Volta Park."

Eunice is now Mrs. R. Sargent Shriver of Chicago.

Walton's father, the late J. W. Walton, and the late W. L. Fay, formed a partnership and bought the Jacksonville newspaper before the turn of the century. Walton and his two sisters Mrs. John T. Hackett and Mrs. Jack Curtis, both of Jacksonville, still hold stock in the company, which publishes the Jacksonville Journal and the Jacksonville Courier.

Worked for Wire Service

Walton worked for the paper as a reporter and cartoonist while attending Illinois college in Jacksonville. He was graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

After graduating from Wisconsin, Walton worked for the Associated Press in Springfield, Chicago, and New York City. In 1940 he joined the staff of the now defunct New York tabloid PM, founded by the late Marshall Field. He left PM for Time magazine and service as correspondent in World War II.

He came home to a job as foreign editor of Life magazine, and then became head of the Washington bureau of New Republic magazine. In all these years, he felt the tug of art.

In 1949 he decided to devote all his time to painting. He made friends with the young senator and his wife, Jacqueline. She had, and still has, a strong interest in art.

Late in 1959, when the spring primaries began to beckon, Kennedy decided to enter the Wisconsin primary. He knew Walton was a Wisconsin graduate and called on him for help. Walton said:

Started in Wisconsin

"He put me in charge of the 1st congressional district, which includes Racine, Kenosha, and Janesville. I intended to work only that one little campaign, but somehow I've been in it ever since."

Walter was one of a three man committee which approved the design of the inaugural medal, which is in silver and bronze. Such medals, showing the new President's profile, are a feature of every inauguration.

The artists denied reports he will be the art mentor for the White House.

"All that talk about Jackie having art shows at the White House is wacky," he said.

Charge Grandson, Two Accomplices In Theft Of $1,420 From Home

Three teenage boys are being held under $3,000 bond in connection with the theft of $1420 in cash and other valuable papers from the home of Manuel Baptist, Route 3, on Jan. 2. The unusual case has been under investigation since the theft and was highlighted Monday when Deputy Harold Wright and Captain Francis Willner took Baptist's grandson to Springfield for a lie detector test.

Charged with grand larceny and held under $3,000 bond are: Frank U. Baptist, 16, 760 Freedman, grandson of Manuel Baptist; William Trent, 17, 408 West Beecher; and Raymond L. DeWitt, 17, 426 North Pine street.

Young Baptist had been under investigation since the theft but did not implicate his accomplices until given tests at Springfield. Officers rounded up Trent and DeWitt Tuesday and early Wednesday. They were charged and bond set in the court of Justice Charles K. Warzar Wednesday morning.

All three young men related similar stories to officers of how they obtained the money and papers. They drove to the Baptist home on Route 3, secured a hidden key and entered the house to look for several silver dollars. They found a tin box which they opened and found the $1420 in cash, abstracts to property owned and valuable naturalization papers. The trio said they then threw the tin box and papers in a nearby creek and divided the money equally. They purchased a .22 rifle and spent the rest on car accessories and repairs, then returned to their homes. None of the money has been recovered.

The complaints were signed by Manuel Baptist.

The trio failed to post the required $3,000 bond and are still held in the Morgan County Jail.

To Remodel Country Club Dining Rooms

Carlo Bonjean, retiring president of the Jacksonville Country Club, announced at the annual membership meeting Tuesday night that a contract has been awarded to Hugh Gibson, contractor, for remodeling the interior of the club dining rooms.

The work, scheduled to begin Feb. 1, will cost about $45,000.

Dr. Robert Hartman was elected president for 1961, the other new officers being Attorney Theodore Rammelkamp, vice president; Clarendon Smith, treasurer, and Ralph F. Withee, secretary.

New directors are E. P. Hohman, Attorney Bruce Thomson, and Donald Caldwell.

A large crowd of about 400 attended the annual meeting. Membership of the club is approximately 500 families.

Speaker's Experiences Topic At Woman's Club

By Clara Cobb

The January meeting of the Jacksonville Woman's Club was held Saturday afternoon, the 14th, in the Illinois Room at Hotel Dunlap, largely attended and amply rewarded.

Mrs. L. A. Reed, president, opened the session with cordial greetings extended to members and guests, and asked Mrs. George Dick to offer the afternoon prayer and Mrs. Joy Goin to lead in the pledge to the flag.

Mrs. Gillespie Sings

As music chairman, Miss Charlotte Sieber, presented Mrs. John Gillespie who presented a group of three vocal selections in her usually delightful manner. Mrs. Gillespie's selections were all time favorites, "Romance," Romberg; "Hills of Home," Fox and "Morning," Speaks. Responding to audience demand the much loved selection from Carousel, "You'll Never Walk Alone," was added. Mrs. Donald Wood was her able accompanist.

As chairman of the day Mrs. H. C. Merriman presented the speaker for the afternoon, John Rider, assistant to the president at MacMurray College.

Mr. Rider chose for his topic, Iron Men on Wooden Ships, which he developed through a most unusual and direct narration of his own experience as the commander of his ship, a 10-40 submarine chaser, active in the South Seas during World War Two.

Departing from Pearl Harbor to fulfill a dangerous and glorious mission the experiences, challenges and sometimes opportunities met by Capt. Rider and his crew of three officers and 26 enlisted men, on their ship of wooden planks carrying equipment for naval action, were followed through the speaker's graphic description upon their hazardous maneuvers through the far flung and little known island group in the South Pacific.

Returns To Base

The close of the war returned the 10-40 sub chaser to its point of departure, Pearl Harbor, where the wild celebration of war's end was tempered with heartache; the satisfaction of victory dimmed by the absence of comrades who did not return to share the welcome home.

Wooden ships decay, but memories linger longer as man's re-affirmed faith in his Christian belief grows stronger.

Mrs. Reed expressed the club's appreciation of the interesting, personally related story on Iron Men on Wooden Ships, assuring Mr. Rider the afternoon had too, been one of adventure for the audience.

Routine business followed with reports from the secretary and treasurer heard and approved.

The hostess chairman, Mrs. Eugene Clark, was introduced and in turn presented her assistants, Mrs. Lucius Sheppard, Mrs. Erwin Auf-denkamp, Mrs. Barnard Camm, Mrs. Deane Cannell, Miss Eda Eckoff, Mrs. Harold Hill, Mrs. Eugene Martin, Mrs. Don Ransdell, Mrs. Carlton Schumacher and Mrs. Verne Smith.

The meeting adjourned and a social hour followed centered around a beautifully appointed tea table consistently carrying out the nautical theme of the program with the use of countless sea shells in varied shape and color, tall pink tapers and silver appointments providing the setting for the serving of dainty refreshments. Mrs. O. N. Barr and Mrs. Verne Smith poured.

Denies Keeping Family From Escaping Fire

BEDFORD, Que., (AP)—Crown prosecutor Claude Noiseux said he will charge Abel Vosburgh, 63, with murder today in the death of his wife and 11 children, whose bodies were found in their burned shanty home Dec. 29.

A coroner's jury Tuesday night found Vosburgh, sole survivor of the fire, criminally responsible. As a crowd of 300 persons milled around outside the hearing room, Vosburgh denied he caused the fire and kept his family from escaping.

Vosburgh, an unemployed laborer, testified the flames awoke him and that he called to his wife, whom police said was dead before the fire started. Vosburgh said he then ran to a water pump outside their home in the village of Noyon, 35 miles south of Montreal.

Vosburgh denied he ever beat his 43-year-old wife. One of the four Vosburgh children ran away from home when the fire broke out, Irving, 18, testified his mother and father fought "about once a month" and that his father broke his mother's ribs during a fight four years ago. He also testified his father threatened to kill his mother, "but I don't know if he meant it."
